Car Involved in Fatal Crash

LeRoy Hollinshed, 70, of Oaklyn, N. J., died and two others were hospitalized after the above collision on Route 9W a mile south of the Highland traffic circle shortly before noon Thursday. Dr. Chester Golding, Dutchess county assistant medical examiner, has issued an "accidental death" verdict in the case of Hollinshed, state police said this morning. Hollinshed's wife, Elsie, 65, and Frank Straub, 68, of Teaneck, N. J., were reported in "fair" condition but still on the "danger list" at Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie this morning. Troopers said the Hollinsheds were riding in the car above and that Straub was driving alone in the other car when they collided almost head-on during a rainstorm. Hollinshed was pronounced dead on arrival at Vassar Hospital. (Freeman photo)

Serious Break Occurs in Sewer

BPW Called to Emergency Session to Cope With Situation

Another serious break in a trunkline sewer at Greenkill and Clinton avenues was reported late yesterday afternoon and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk moved today for emergency action by the Board of Public Works for its repair.

The break is one of several this summer at various places in the city's sewer system, some sections of which, are more than a half century old.

"I feel that work on the repair of the break at Greenkill and Clinton avenues will have to be done at once, and that it should be done under contract so that our street work will not be held up," the mayor said, "and I am therefore getting the reaction of the BPW as soon as possible." The mayor expected to call an emergency meeting of the board sometime today.

Program Is Hampered

The city's street repair program was hampered by sewer line breaks earlier this summer because the repairs were made by men of the public works department.

The break at Greenkill and Clinton avenues was not at the same place as other breaks in that same area, but was in the general vicinity.

The repair of a recent break on the same trunk line between Henry and Cedar streets on Clin-

Russian Promise Fails to Materialize and Rationing Is Imposed

Berlin, July 24 (AP)—A potato famine fanned the anger of hungry East Germans against Communist misrule today.

Failure of promised shipments from Russia and her satellites has forced the re-introduction of strict potato rationing, the West Berlin newspaper, Nacht-Depesche reported.

This was an embarrassing new setback to the puppet East German government's attempt to overcome the passive resistance which continues to spread among its sullen workers.

Communist bosses fought this resistance with a frenzied mixture of new arrests, threats, promises, wage boosts, and propaganda claims of increasing food plenty. But strikes and slowdowns continued. The hungry populace clamored for more food.

Unrest Is Increased

An American-backed food relief program and Moscow's efforts to block it were obviously increasing the unrest behind the Iron Curtain. Communist propagandists struck back furiously at U. S. High Commissioner James B. Conant's new appeal for the Russians "not to place any obstacles in the way" of distributing free American food.

They branded as "spies and agents" East Germans who accepted western relief. Despite confessed shortages of several

Eisenhower, Wilson Win Fight to Cut Plane Funds

Washington, July 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense Wilson have won their long battle to cut funds and target goals of the air force.

Without a record vote, the Senate late yesterday shouted approval of a bill carrying $34,434,140,500 to operate the defense establishment for the fiscal year which began July 1.

The real tests had come earlier after lengthy and at times angry debate.

First, by a 55-38 rollcall, the Senate rejected an effort by Sen. Maybank (D-SC) to give the air force an additional 400 million dollars to order 200 B47 jet bombers, capable of delivering atomic bombs.

This was the big test, since it was the first to come to a vote. Republican lines held firm against the increase and they picked up 9 valuable Democratic votes to add to the 46 GOP ones. Voting for Maybank's amendment were 37 Democrats and 1 independent.

If Maybank's move had succeeded, other Democrats planned amendments to restore more of the five billion dollars cut from former President Truman's air force budget by the GOP administration.

Not a change was made in the bill as it had been reported by the Senate Appropriations Committee. A conference committee will be named to adjust Senate-House differences.

The Senate upped the House totals for the air force by about 200 millions, for the navy by 96 millions and for the army by 31 millions. It offset this in part by chopping out 250 millions the House voted for a machine tools pool asked by Secretary Wilson.

As the bill cleared the Senate it contained about 77 million more than the House voted.

The Senate bill still was more than 1 billion below Eisenhower's budget, more than 6 billions under the Truman requests and more than 12½ billions less than Congress voted defense agencies last year.

The funds are expected to result in a total military force of 3,356,000 by the end of next June, which will be cut to 3,300,000 if a truce is reached in Korea. That compares with a recent 3½ million in uniform.

Tanker Burns, One Man Is Missing

Wilmington, Del., July 24 (AP)—A seagoing tanker exploded and burned alongside a dock last night and checkups today showed seven men missing, six of them crewmen from tugboats that were caught by the blast.

The 9,179-ton tanker Pan-Georgia was completing discharge of it's 110,000 barrel cargo of fuel oil and high octane gasoline when flames spouted from one of the holds.

A complete check of the Pan-Georgia's crew list showed all but one man, Ray Ott, of Galveston, Tex., the second assistant engineer, had been accounted for. Ship

Rhee Gives More Blasts Over Truce

Allies Are Warned Some Promises to Reds Can't Happen — Balks at Unilateral Policy

Source Says Truce To Be Signed Sunday

Seoul, Saturday, July 25 (AP)—A usually reliable source said last night that the Korean armistice probably will be signed Sunday. Official confirmation was lacking.

The informant, who is close to the truce talks but cannot otherwise be identified, said only a last-minute hitch stemming from President Syngman Rhee's opposition could block the signing.

Panmunjom, July 24 (AP)—South Korea's President Syngman Rhee today angrily denounced an armistice agreement which appeared all but signed and warned that some allied promises to the Reds "cannot be allowed to happen."

Rhee's new threats brought no immediate reaction here as liaison officers put finishing touches on a truce. The full truce delegations were expected to be called together at any moment to set a signing date. It could come this week.

The liaison officers met for 2 hours, 48 minutes, then recessed without scheduling another session.

The stubborn old South Korean president acknowledged that a truce was imminent and said he is anxious "not to follow a unilateral policy, if it can be avoided."

Rhee has threatened several times in the past to pull out of the UN command and fight on alone.

Says Armistice 'Close'

ROK Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai said an armistice is "very close—probably in a few days." He added that South Korea has asked to be informed of the signing date three days ahead of time and "we have not been informed as yet."

In a strongly worded statement, Rhee accused the allies of giving the Communists pledges which "render impossible a fulfillment" of some of South Korea's basic understandings with the United States."

He said his agreement with U. S. Asst. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, President Eisenhower's truce envoy, provided:

1. " . . . That no troops from India or any other foreign nation will be landed in South Korea to guard prisoners of war."

Yet, said Rhee, "The Communists claim Gen. William K. Harrison has agreed that such troops will land in South Korea and that they will be granted police protection by the UN forces. I can only say that the Korean people will not permit this to happen."

2. " . . . That the United States will join with the Republic of Korea in setting a time limit to the political conference."

No Time Limit

Yet, Rhee added, "It has been announced that there is agreement that there will be no time limit on the armistice . . . "

3. " . . . That Korean prisoners who refuse repatriation shall be set free in South Korea and that the Chinese prisoners who refuse to return to communism shall be sent to a destination of their own choice."

Yet, Rhee said, "The so far uncontradicted report from Pan-

Cold Storage Plant's Damage Is $50,000

Damage by fire yesterday in the Claude Hepworth & Son cold storage plant at Milton was estimated today as "roughly $50,000."

Origin of the blaze is still unknown, but Jack Hepworth, a member of the firm, said it started on the roof of the concrete block structure and spread through a section where wood and paper packaging material was stored.

"The firemen did a tremendous job," Hepworth said. "They felt there was not much hope of saving anything when they arrived," but they saved the sections outside the 45 by 60-foot storage room in the center.

Volunteers from Milton, Marlborough and Highland fought the blaze.

The large concrete block building has 175,000 cubic feet of storage space and can store about 70,000 bushels of fruit. Two sections on either side of the center storage room are 60 by 60 feet and a north section is 45 by 120 feet.

Little damage was done to the small quantity of peaches and cherries in storage at the building, but the fire damaged the pipes of the cooling system. Amonia fumes, early in the fire hampered the work of firemen, but none was seriously affected.

The heavy winter storage season does not begin until early September when mostly apples are stored.

A fruit stand at the front of the building and sections in the rear of the center storage space were not damaged.

The blaze started early yesterday morning and was not under control until the early afternoon.

Hepworth said work on repairs will start at once and it is planned to have the building ready for the storage of apples in September. (Freeman Photo)

Others Say Marshal Is Kicked Out

South Koreans Declare Chinese Boss Might Break With Moscow on Policies

By OLEN CLEMENTS

Tokyo, July 24 (AP)—Marshal Kim Il Sung, the Red boss of North Korea, was reported tonight to have ousted his chief rival and to be replacing all pro-Russian Koreans in his cabinet with Korean Reds who put Communist China first.

There were other contradictory reports that Kim himself had been purged, but there was no way of checking.

South Korean intelligence sources, who say Kim still is in the saddle, say the reported swing toward closer ties with Red China could be the start of a split between China's boss, Mao Tze-tung, and Moscow.

They call it a fight between Communists trained in Yenan and Reds trained in Moscow.

Yenan was the headquarters of Red China's Mao before he took over all of China.

Vice Premier Goes

Among the first officials reported kicked out in the purge was Marshal Kim's rival, Vice Premier Hu Ka Week, Soviet-trained Korean described by South Korean sources as the real ruler of North Korea until Russian Secret Police Chief Lavrenty Beria was ousted.

Beria's downfall apparently gave Kim the upper hand in his fight for power with Hu.

Other members of the North Korean Red hierarachy reportedly fired by Kim were Foreign Minister Park Hun Yung, a South Korean Communist leader who fled north in 1946; Justice Minister Lee Sung Yup, whose background was not available; and Ambassador to Russia Choo Yung Ha.

Korean sources said Kim was a "front" for the Russia-backed Korean Reds and that Hu Ka Wee was the real North Korean boss with strong Russian backing. Hu Ka Wee entered North Korea from Russia in 1945 with Russian Gen. T. F. Shtikov, Soviet member of the U. S.-Soviet Commission in Korea from 1945 to 1947. Gen. Shtikov reportedly left Hu Ka Wee in charge.

Too Bong Moves Up

Moving up alongside Kim in the new order, Korean sources say, is Kim Too Bong, a Yenan-trained Korean who was chairman of the North Korean Peoples Supreme Committee. Other Yenan-trained Korean Communists recently announced by Pyongyang radio to be in the cabinet are Hong Myung Hi, Jung Il Young, Park Yi Won and Choi Yong Kum. All are vice premiers.

The renegade South Korean Park Hun Yung, who became North Korean foreign minister, was reported to have been replaced by Vice Foreign Minister Lee Tong Kun, another South Korean who was trained at Yenan. All Pyongyang announcements of any importance of late have been signed by him instead of Park Hun Yung.

Renegade in Jail

Park Hun Yung was reported in a Communist jail. He is said to have fallen from power three months ago.

There was no report on the whereabouts of Hu Ka Wee or Ambassador Choo Yung Ha, who is listed by the South Koreans as Yenan-trained. It might be that Choo Yung Ha is slated for a higher post in North Korea.

In Seoul, South Korean Home Minister Chun Hun Shik said the fight was between Chinese and Russian-trained Reds and that Marshal Kim, whose real name is Kim Song Ju, has become the supreme power.

Relations Improve

Buenos Aires, Argentina, July 23 (AP)—Two pro-Peron newspapers began printing foreign news distributed by a United States news agency today. This appeared to be another step in the lifting of the unofficial boycott which kept American agency dispatches out of Argentine newspapers for more than 2½ months. This indication of improved Argentine-United States relations followed the visit here last weekend of Dr. Milton Eisenhower, brother of the U. S. President. He was given elaborate attention by President Peron and his associates on a basis usually reserved for visits by a chief executive. Eisenhower was on a fact-finding tour as a representative of his brother.

Smith Is Sure U.S. Veto Would Be Used on China

Member of Foreign Relations Group Reports He Is Pleased at Lodge Statement

Washington, July 24 (AP)—Sen. M. Alexander Smith (R-N. J.) said today that "as things stand now, I am sure we would use the veto" to block the entrance of Communist China into the United Nations.

Smith said in an interview he was greatly pleased at assurances given the Foreign Relations Committee by a former member, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., that this country can and should use its veto to keep Communist China out of the UN.

Lodge, former Massachusetts senator and now chief U. S. representative to the UN, testified before the committee yesterday in lively support of the world organization. It was his first report to Congress on his stewardship as UN ambassador.

Expects 'Heat'

Smith, who heads the Far East subcommittee of the foreign relations group, said he expected "a lot of heat" from America's friends and enemies to get Red China into the UN after a truce in Korea.

"That's when we're going to have to have a stiff backbone," he said.

Both branches of Congress are on record against admitting the Chinese Communists to the UN. President Eisenhower has said he is against it under present world conditions. The United States has never recognized the Communist government at Peiping and

5,000 Reds Slam Allied Lines on Western Front

Sketchy Reports Say Forces Locked in Hand-to-Hand Combat With UN Infantrymen

Seoul, July 24 (AP)—Up to 5,000 Chinese Reds slammed into allied lines tonight in two attacks on the Korean western front.

Front line officers called the new fighting "hot and heavy." It came as truce negotiators were reported to have drawn the Korean cease-fire line in sessions at Panmunjom, a few miles to the south.

The Chinese rammed a regiment—about 2,800 soldiers—at one allied hill position and about two battalions at another.

One of the positions was outpost Esther.

The embattled hills were directly south of outposts Berlin and East Berlin, seized by the Reds this week from troops of the U. S. 1st Marine Division.

Sketchy front line reports said the Chinese swarmed over allied positions and locked in hand-to-hand combat with UN infantrymen.

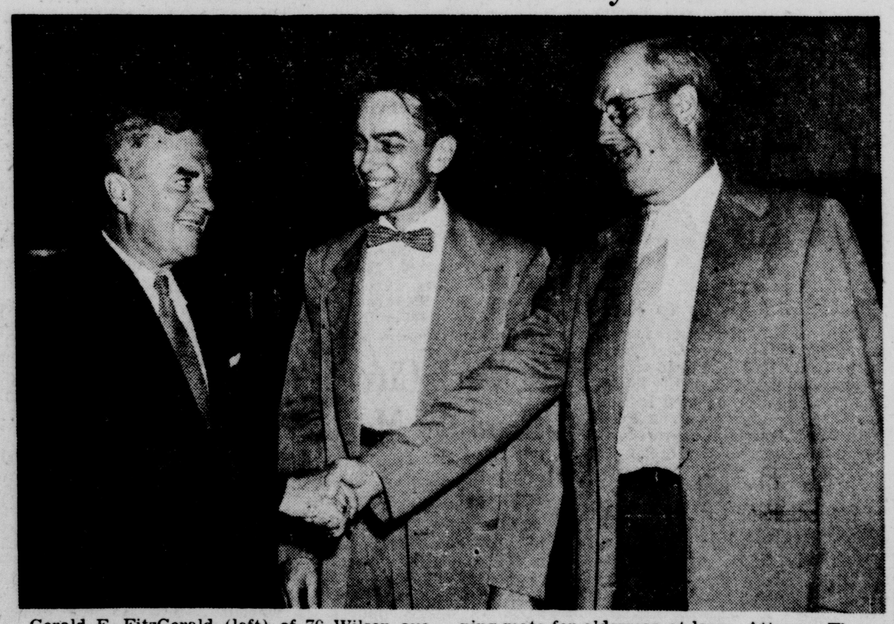

Smash to Crest

To the east, four Chinese companies in a daring daylight assault smashed to the crest of the rugged hill overlooking the Kumsong river bend after a savage nightlong battle with South Koreans.

Democrats Designate Two; No City Judge Recommended

Gerald FitzGerald of 70 Wilson avenue was recommended as Democratic candidate for mayor at the party's adjourned unofficial city convention held at the court house Thursday night.

Recommended as candidate for alderman-at-large was Thomas Coughlin of 48 Hunter street, present alderman of the 7th Ward. Both recommendations were by unanimous vote of the delegates present.

No recommendation was made for the city judge candidacy. Selection of a candidate was left to the party's committee on vacancies.

FitzGerald's name was placed before the delegates by Ernest Heppner, who pointed out that FitzGerald is a graduate of School No. 7 and attended both Kingston Academy and the then new Kingston High School. He also attended Moran's School of Business and has studied special evening courses at the high school in mechanical drawing and drafting.

In the clothing business until 1930, FitzGerald then became office manager for a wholesale firm in the area. From 1937 to 1948 he was with the Prudential Insurance Company, and from 1948 to the present has been office manager for the Cabot Construc-

Eisenhower, Wilson Win Fight to Cut Plane Funds

Washington, July 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense Wilson have won their long battle to cut funds and target goals of the air force.

Without a record vote, the Senate late yesterday shouted approval of a bill carrying $34,434,140,500 to operate the defense establishment for the fiscal year which began July 1.

The real tests had come earlier after lengthy and at times angry debate.

First, by a 55-38 rollcall, the Senate rejected an effort by Sen. Maybank (D-SC) to give the air force an additional 400 million dollars to order 200 B47 jet bombers, capable of delivering atomic bombs.

This was the big test, since it was the first to come to a vote. Republican lines held firm against the increase and they picked up 9 valuable Democratic votes to add to the 46 GOP ones. Voting for Maybank's amendment were 37 Democrats and 1 independent.

If Maybank's move had succeeded, other Democrats planned amendments to restore more of the five billion dollars cut from former President Truman's air force budget by the GOP administration.

Not a change was made in the bill as it had been reported by the Senate Appropriations Committee. A conference committee will be named to adjust Senate-House differences.

The Senate upped the House totals for the air force by about 200 millions, for the navy by 96 millions and for the army by 31 millions. It offset this in part by chopping out 250 millions the House voted for a machine tools pool asked by Secretary Wilson.

As the bill cleared the Senate it contained about 77 million more than the House voted.

The Senate bill still was more than 1 billion below Eisenhower's budget, more than 6 billions under the Truman requests and more than 12½ billions less than Congress voted defense agencies last year.

The funds are expected to result in a total military force of 3,356,000 by the end of next June, which will be cut to 3,300,000 if a truce is reached in Korea. That compares with a recent 3½ million in uniform.

Tanker Burns, One Man Is Missing

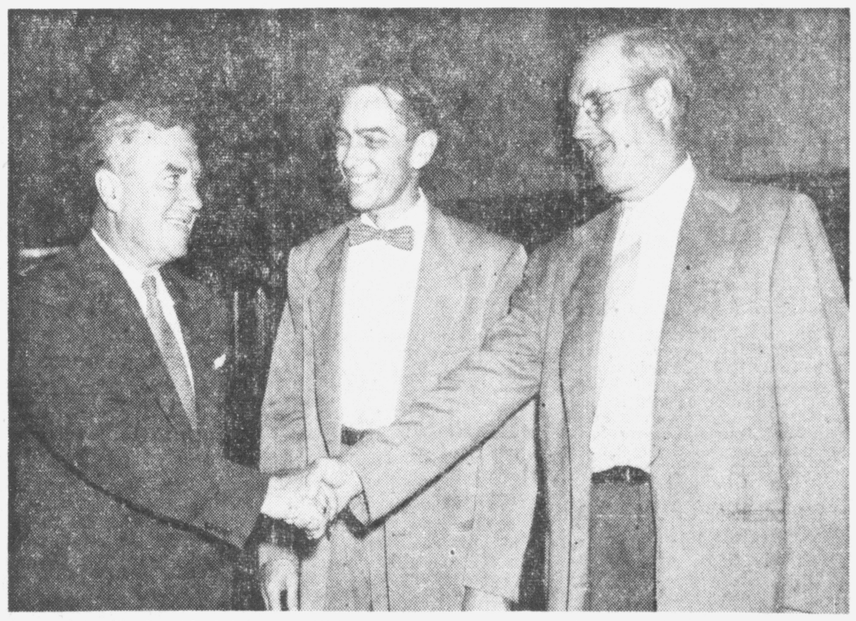

Wilmington, Del., July 24 (AP)—A seagoing tanker exploded and burned alongside a dock last night and checkups today showed seven men missing, six of them crewmen from tugboats that were caught by the blast.

The 9,179-ton tanker Pan-Georgia was completing discharge of it's 110,000 barrel cargo of fuel oil and high octane gasoline when flames spouted from one of the holds.

A complete check of the Pan-Georgia's crew list showed all but one man, Ray Ott, of Galveston, Tex., the second assistant engineer, had been accounted for. Ship

Democrats Designate Two; No City Judge Recommended

Gerald FitzGerald of 70 Wilson avenue was recommended as Democratic candidate for mayor at the party's adjourned unofficial city convention held at the court house Thursday night.

Recommended as candidate for alderman-at-large was Thomas Coughlin of 48 Hunter street, present alderman of the 7th Ward. Both recommendations were by unanimous vote of the delegates present.

No recommendation was made for the city judge candidacy. Selection of a candidate was left to the party's committee on vacancies.

FitzGerald's name was placed before the delegates by Ernest Heppner, who pointed out that FitzGerald is a graduate of School No. 7 and attended both Kingston Academy and the then new Kingston High School. He also attended Moran's School of Business and has studied special evening courses at the high school in mechanical drawing and drafting.

In the clothing business until 1930, FitzGerald then became office manager for a wholesale firm in the area. From 1937 to 1948 he was with the Prudential Insurance Company, and from 1948 to the present has been office manager for the Cabot Construc-

Viaduct Traffic Is Slowed by Collision

Collision of a trailer truck and another truck on the Washington avenue viaduct late yesterday afternoon hampered traffic for a short time, but neither driver reported injuries.

Officers William Hanley and Everett Emmick said that at about 3:49 p. m., the trailer truck owned and operated by Louis Fuscardo, 46, of 11 Rogers street, was in collision with a truck owned and operated by Floyd A. Slauson, 37, of RD Walton.

Slauson was headed up the viaduct from Kingston and the other vehicle went into a skid when brakes were applied and skidded into the lighter vehicle, the report said. The Slauson truck was loaded with concrete blocks. The officers reported its rear end and frame damaged. The other vehicle was damaged on its left front.

The trailer truck left the scene soon after the mishap, but the other vehicle remained at the foot of the viaduct for some time and was taken away after its load was transferred to another truck.

KeresmanStressesPolice Need $5,000 Minimum

The police conference of the State of New York says a $5,000-a-year minimum salary for policemen will help curb the high personnel turnover in local departments, according to the Associated Press.

Peter Keresman of this city, executive secretary of the conference, said yesterday the minimum was needed to attract new men to the forces and to stop resignations.

Police salaries "Are scandalously low, as only 53 departments (in the state) are in the $4,000 bracket," Keresman said in a letter to heads of the 199 conference affiliates.

The lure of high industrial pay has caused "The highest turnover in history" in local police departments, he said.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

How long does a good roof last? Back in 1923, in the September 18, Kingston Freeman and Journal specifications were received for the new Senate House roof. At the time, Judge A. T. Clearwater was the president of the old Senate House Association. He had received, at the time, the following specifications from the state architect, the Hon. Samuel W. Jones, and from the superintendent of public buildings. John J. McNulty. The roof of the old Senate House was to be covered with copper. The specifications required the removal of the present roof and the installation of a new covering of copper. The gutters were to be regraded, the chimney tops were to be relaid or pointed as required, the open joints in the masonry at the eaves repointed where mortar had fallen out.

It is interesting to read these details as most house owners have a roof problem at some time or other and often are at a loss to know just what is best for their house in the long run. At the time, they did not intend to remove the entire roof boarding of the Senate House, but all broken or decayed parts were to be replaced as necessary to provide proper nailing and support for the new roof covering prior to the laying of a copper roof. The whole roof was to receive an approved water-proof paper covering, laid horizontally with a four inch lap. The copper was described as 16-ounce soft roofing tempered, with sheets not to exceed 20 inches in width and 96 inches in length, to be secured with copper cleats 9 inches apart on centers, not to be more than 17 inches apart on centers. Seams to be locked, sweated and thoroughly soldered together. Now I would like to know, after 30 years, how is that old Senate House roof, did it ever leak after that new copper roof was put on?

A good sale or bargain counter always draws crowds. So you can imagine when I run through these old Freeman and Journals say of December 28, 1923 and see something like the following. Van Wagenen's was having a full page advertisement advertising their wares. One of the specials was aluminum ware 69 cents. "A cleanup of all pieces that sold regularly at $1 to $1.50. Four and six quart kettles, one and two quart double boilers, sauce pan sets, pudding pan sets, roasting pans, tube cake pans, etc., heavy weight, Sun Ray finish, any one for only 69 cents." The same store also had real leather hand bags for 69 cents. Single bed sheets were going for 69 cents.

Just found another small item on the Skillypot which made its last trip from Rondout to Sleightsburg Oct. 14, 1922. Item in Dec. 25, 1923 local paper, it said, that the Hasbrouck Estate was taking down the old waiting house at the Skillypot slip on Ferry street. When the ferry stopped running the little candy store trade dropped off so that the owner gave up. From then on the building began to go to ruin. Folks perhaps remember it. It was a frame building two stories in height. Inside was warm in the winter, and neat as a pin, run by a very nice lady who had all sorts of penny candy. There were frilly curtains at the window facing the Rondout creek, and I think she had flower pots there, and a rocking chair. She made waiting a pleasure with her sweet personality, if you bought candy or not. We bought although we had candy in our own store.

Lands in Henhouse

Washington, July 24 (AP)—The Senate dispute over air force funds landed in the henhouse. Sen. Ferguson (R.-Mich.), defending air force cutbacks, quoted the late William Knudsen, who directed World War 2 production, as saying: "You cannot hatch an egg any faster by putting two hens on it." "No," agreed Sen. Morse (Ind.-Ore.), "but one can get more chicks if he puts double the number of eggs under two hens, provided they can cover them." "That is correct," Ferguson agreed, "provided they can cover the eggs." They were debating whether more dollars would mean more aircraft.

1,200 Diamond Chips

New York, July 24 (AP)—Eleven-year-old Johnny Hayes found a couple of tiny "sparkling pebbles" in the basement laundry of a Brooklyn apartment house last night. Stepdad, Sol Gerber, took them to jeweler Sam Leddy. Said Leddy: Diamond chips. The policemen raked in about 1,200 of the pretty sparklers and estimated the value at around a dollar each. How the diamonds got into the laundry room nobody knew.

Police Break Up Teen Girl Gangs

New York, July 24 (AP)—Two teen-age girl gangs formed battle lines in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn last night and were ready to fight with ice picks and knives when police broke it up.

Veteran police said it was the first time in their memory that girl gangs prepared for formal combat, although teen-age girls often have carried weapons for gangs of boys.

The belligerent girls called themselves the Esquire Debutantes and the Cheyenne Debutantes. They agreed to a battle as the result of a dispute two days ago between an Esquire and a Cheyenne. The quarrel was over members of a boys' gang called the Mighty Chaplains, a group numbering 100 members.

A dozen members of the Cheyenne Debutantes faced about 30 members of the Esquire Debutantes when a radio car drove up.

Run from Police

When the two policemen jumped out of the car, the young battlers shrieked and fled. All of the Esquire Debutantes got away, some of them dropping their ice picks, switchblade knives and butcher knives.

The police grabbed four of the Cheyennes, and through questioning obtained the names and rounded up four other Cheyennes. Four of the girls were charged with illegal possession of weapons, conspiracy to engage in a gang fight, and unlawful assembly. The other four were charged with juvenile delinquency.

Picketing Injunction Adjourned to Monday

The hearing of a petition by two large Sullivan county resort hotels for an injunction against picketing by three AFL locals has been adjourned by Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick until Monday at 10 a. m.

Following the taking of testimony on Thursday, a conference was held by counsel for both sides, but apparently no agreement was reached, as witnesses were told to be back in court on Monday.

Petitioners in the action are Grossinger's and the Concord Hotel. The union locals are No. 29 of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes and Bartenders International Union; No. 32-E of Building Service Employes International Union, and No. 305 affiliated with the Office Employes International Union. They maintain offices jointly at Monticello.

The bill is subject to final approval by the Senate and House and the President.

Confers on Korea

United Nations, July 24 (AP)—Lester B. Pearson of Canada, president of the UN General Assembly, today conferred with UN officials and delegates on the Korean question. Pearson arrived last night for a three-day visit to discuss plans for reconvening the 60-nation assembly in the event of a Korean armistice. It would be the assembly's job to work out plans for a political conference provided for in the draft armistice agreement. Pearson's schedule included a meeting with UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and a private luncheon with leading delegates.

Open on Farm Plans

Washington, July 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower was reported to have told a group of House Republicans today that the administration will have an open mind on any changes in the basic farm program until Congress has completed studies after adjournment of this session. Eight House Republicans who are members of the agriculture committee and the appropriations subcommittee on agriculture called on the President. They had asked for the meeting to discuss the drouth problem and how to dispose of huge surpluses of some farm commodities, among other things.

The nomination was seconded by Francis J. O'Neill, Sam N. Mann and Alderman Edwin Radel of the third ward. Escorted to the dais by Heppner, O'Neill, Mann and Mrs. Raymond McAndrew, FitzGerald made a short acceptance speech in which he said he will conduct "a hard, clean, fair campaign."

"If I am elected," he said, "I will work every day, and each night if necessary, to make Kingston a better place in which to live. If I am not elected, I will always cherish the honor you have bestowed upon me."

James H. Betts nominated Thomas Coughlin for the delegates' approval as alderman-at-large candidate. Betts pointed out that Coughlin has been a member of the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association for 25 years and is its incumbent president. Pointing to his record as Seventh Ward alderman, Betts said that Coughlin has been active in civic matters over a long period in Kingston.

Coughlin's nomination was seconded by Joseph Epstein, who called him "one of the best aldermen the city ever had." There were other seconds made from the floor. Escorted by Betts, Epstein, Mrs. Joseph Roach and John Worf, Coughlin accepted the designation, saying he will "give my full support to the candidate for mayor and the whole ticket." He criticized the issuance of bonds for street repair purposes.

No nominations were made for the designation as city judge candidate, and a motion was approved to leave the selection to the committee on vacancies.

Delegates approved unanimously a motion by Lawrence J. Quilty to send a resolution to the family of Maurice J. Tobin, former secretary of labor, who died July 19. Tobin was a speaker at the Democratic party's last annual dinner.

Thomas J. Plunket, Democratic county chairman, urged the party workers "not to sit back." Claiming that the slate presented at the Democratic convention "exceeds the qualifications of the Republican candidates," he said "we have to bring the message home." He stressed the statement by FitzGerald that he would spend full time on the duties of mayor, and contended that "the Republican candidate has said publicly that he will continue to practice law."

Relic Is Ruined

Westport, Conn., July 24 (AP)—A muffled boom, an act of vandalism, signaled today the destruction of a cannon used during the Revolutionary War to repel the British. The eleven-foot cannon, reported Policeman Joseph Buccieri, apparently was stuffed with dynamite. The charge was then set off by a long fuse. Nearby residents said they heard the boom at about 3 a. m. The cannon sat on a point on Compo Beach overlooking Long Island Sound. The last time a shot had been fired from it was on April 28, 1777 when the British attempted a landing. Today's explosion tore the historic relic apart. A piece weighing about 20 pounds was found 75 feet away.

Car in Reservoir

An automobile owned by William Howard Williams of 50 Esopus avenue took an unscheduled plunge in a city of Kingston reservoir about 10:30 p. m. Thursday when its driver, Ronald L. Williams, 19, swerved to avoid hitting a dog on the Sawkill road, state police reported. There was no personal injury reported, no arrest, and the 1949 convertible coupe was towed from the water by a wrecker, troopers said.

Draper Is Executed

Ossining, July 24 (AP)—William H. Draper, 33, was electrocuted last night at Sing Sing Prison for beating to death elderly Jennie O'Keefe of Monroe county. Draper, who became a Roman Catholic during his 14-month stay in prison, was accompanied by the Rev. Thomas J. Donovan as he walked silently to the electric chair. He was pronounced dead at 10:04 p. m. (EST). Witnesses said the man looked frightened but said nothing during the last minutes of his life.

5,000 Reds Slam

said the height changed hands three times in bloody close combat.

The Chinese first scaled the allied-held hill after a 4½-hour battle which began about midnight, but were shoved down the slopes by counterattacking ROKs at dawn. The hill was quiet for a few hours, then was recaptured in a savage Red charge at noon which was protected by overcast skies that grounded allied warplanes.

Caught in Open

The U. S. 8th Army reported allied artillery caught five Chinese companies—about 800 soldiers—in the open in the Kumhwa-Kunsong valley on the central front and killed or wounded 270 Reds.

American and South Korean troops overpowered the Reds in six of nine other small but savage battles across the war-torn peninsula.

The South Koreans caught the brunt of what could be some of the final fighting in the three-year war. They counterattacked on four central front hills lost to the Reds this week, and recaptured one in a bloody fight with hand grenades and rifle butts.

Bitter fighting continued on the other three hills near the Kumsong river.

Assaults Torn Up

Allied machine guns and artillery tore up three Chinese assaults by about 150 men each northeast of Kumhwa, western anchor of allied lines on the central front and a vital allied road junction.

On the western front, soldiers of the U. S. 7th Infantry Division hurled back two similar Red assaults against outposts Dale and West View both in the irregular low hill area around Old Baldy and Pork Chop Hills.

Machine guns and artillery raked the Reds for two hours before they fell back from outpost Dale about midnight.

Fighting raged for 4½ hours on West View before the Reds were stopped just after midnight. A second wave hit in the early morning and kept up the fighting another hour before falling back.

There was no estimate of the Communist force in the two fights. But the intensity indicated possibly two full companies, or more than 300 men.

The U. S. 8th Army reported a handful of small Red probes across the winding front.

Smith Is Sure U. S.

China's UN seat is occupied by the Chinese Nationalists.

But the New Jersey senator said he expects the Communists to put on an adroit campaign to get Red China into the UN.

"I would not be at all surprised," he said, "if they offered to permit unification of Korea in return for admission. They might even agree to stop the shooting in Indochina.

'All Will Be Lost'

"If the Chinese Communist regime gets into the United Nations and consolidates its position, all of Asia will be lost."

Under the UN Charter, China is a permanent member of the Security Council, the most powerful unit of the organization. There has been some question whether the veto is applicable to the Red China situation. The veto clearly applies to the admission of a new member, but it has been argued that the substitution of representatives of one regime for another is a procedural question and not subject to the veto.

However, Smith and Sen. Wiley (R.-Wis.) both said Lodge held the view that an effort by the Communist regime to take Nationalist China's UN seat would be a substantive question, to which the veto applies.

In his public testimony, Lodge said he was confident any move to admit Red China would be defeated.

Lodge told the committee that "war would be inevitable if the United Nations disappeared."

He said the organization had its faults and limitations but, even so, "has been able, more than any other body in modern history, to organize peace and security."

Hoover and Farley

this week that they look for Hoover to serve as chairman.

Gets More Authority

The new commission will have considerably broader authority than the old Hoover commission on government reorganization had. The former President headed that unit from the time it was set up in 1947 until it completed its work in 1949.

In naming Hoover and Farley as public representatives on the new commission, Eisenhower said in a statement:

"The former President of the United States has once again placed his great talents at the disposal of the government, and I am sure that I speak for the people of the nation as I take this occasion to thank him publicly for responding to this call to duty.

"The government is fortunate that Mr. Farley has likewise agreed to help the commission in its work. His knowledge of government and its functions will be of inestimable value to the tremendous task confronting the commission."

Farley served as Democratic national chairman during the first two terms of Franklin D. Roosevelt. He also was postmaster general in the Roosevelt cabinet during that period.

Resort at Harris Leveled by Blaze

Monticello, July 24 (AP) — A spectacular early morning fire today leveled the 57-room Gross American House, a resort hotel at nearby Harris.

About 100 guests and 30 to 40 members of the staff fled into the night in nightclothes. None were reported injured, but few managed to save any belongings.

Liberty Fire Chief Dewey Borden estimated the loss at $100,000.

The blaze apparently started in the kitchen at the rear of the rambling structure and spread swiftly.

A passing trucker on Route 17 saw the flames, stopped and leaned on his horn to sound the alarm.

With the house set back from the road only about 25 feet, the heat and fire apparatus tied up traffic for three hours.

Also destroyed were a barn at the rear and three autos parked alongside the building.

Firemen from Monticello and Liberty, hampered by inadequate water supply, were able to save only an adjacent 2-story bungalow.

Tanker Burns, One

officers said he apparently drowned after leaping overboard to escape the flames.

In Philadelphia, the Curtis Bay Towing Co. reported that it had been unable to account for six crewmen aboard its tugs, the J. H. Deinlein and the Otoco. Both tugs were standing by the Pan-Georgia at the time the fire started. The company declined to name the missing men or give other information at this time.

Job Almost Finished

Wilmington, Del., July 24 (AP)—The 9,179-ton tanker Pan Georgia burst into flames last night as its crew completed unloading 110,000 gallons of high octane gasoline and fuel oil at a Delaware river dock here.

One crew member, Ray Ott, a second assistant engineer from Galveston, Tex., is missing and presumed dead. Ship officers said he apparently drowned after leaping overboard in the flurry of excitement which swept the ship.

Coast guardsmen and Wilmington firemen used grappling hooks in a search for his body.

Of the other crew members, 24 were rescued by coast guard and army engineer rescue boats and brought to Red Cross headquarters in Wilmington. Another 8 were admitted to Delaware Hospital where 2 of them are in critical condition from burns.

Stay to Fight Flames

Eight others, including Capt. Morgan A. Maxey, 36, of Port Arthur, Tex., stayed on board to battle the flames.

Maxey and the seven others who remained aboard were safe, the coast guard said.

Firemen had the fire under control three hours after flames first broke out shortly before midnight. This morning, there was no sign of fire but firemen still played water over the steaming decks.

There was no immediate estimate of the amount of damage.

Joseph H. Boland, 55, of Galveston, Tex., a member of the ship's mess, said he believed the fire started when a spark from a tugboat standing alongside the ship blew into an open hold of the tanker, touching off gasoline fumes.

The flames spread rapidly through the Pan Georgia, lighting her like a torch visible seven miles away.

The tug boat was preparing to pull the tanker from its dock into the river for a return voyage to Texas City, Tex.

Committee Okays

other aid to farmers and stockmen.

Eisenhower asked the money for aid in drouth areas but the committee recommended that loans be made available in any section where there is need for emergency credit.

The committee also proposed that emergency loans of less than $2,500 be made. Previous legislation set that figure as a minium size for emergency loans.

The committee's action sends an appropriation bill on to the House floor where it may come to a vote later today.

The money would be split up this way: 30 million for disaster loans, 60 million for special livestock loans, 40 million for feed and seed to be furnished free if necessary, and 20 million for regular production and subsistence loans by the Farmers' Home Administration.

Viaduct Traffic Is Slowed by Collision

Collision of a trailer truck and another truck on the Washington avenue viaduct late yesterday afternoon hampered traffic for a short time, but neither driver reported injuries.

Officers William Hanley and Everett Emmick said that at about 3:49 p. m., the trailer truck owned and operated by Louis Fuscardo, 46, of 11 Rogers street, was in collision with a truck owned and operated by Floyd A. Slauson, 37, of RD Walton.

Slauson was headed up the viaduct from Kingston and the other vehicle went into a skid when brakes were applied and skidded into the lighter vehicle, the report said. The Slauson truck was loaded with concrete blocks. The officers reported its rear end and frame damaged. The other vehicle was damaged on its left front.

The trailer truck left the scene soon after the mishap, but the other vehicle remained at the foot of the viaduct for some time and was taken away after its load was transferred to another truck.

KeresmanStressesPolice Need $5,000 Minimum

The police conference of the State of New York says a $5,000-a-year minimum salary for policemen will help curb the high personnel turnover in local departments, according to the Associated Press.

Peter Keresman of this city, executive secretary of the conference, said yesterday the minimum was needed to attract new men to the forces and to stop resignations.

Police salaries "Are scandalously low, as only 53 departments (in the state) are in the $4,000 bracket," Keresman said in a letter to heads of the 199 conference affiliates.

The lure of high industrial pay has caused "The highest turnover in history" in local police departments, he said.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

How long does a good roof last? Back in 1923, in the September 18, Kingston Freeman and Journal specifications were received for the new Senate House roof. At the time, Judge A. T. Clearwater was the president of the old Senate House Association. He had received, at the time, the following specifications from the state architect, the Hon. Samuel W. Jones, and from the superintendent of public buildings. John J. McNulty. The roof of the old Senate House was to be covered with copper. The specifications required the removal of the present roof and the installation of a new covering of copper. The gutters were to be regraded, the chimney tops were to be relaid or pointed as required, the open joints in the masonry at the eaves repointed where mortar had fallen out.

It is interesting to read these details as most house owners have a roof problem at some time or other and often are at a loss to know just what is best for their house in the long run. At the time, they did not intend to remove the entire roof boarding of the Senate House, but all broken or decayed parts were to be replaced as necessary to provide proper nailing and support for the new roof covering prior to the laying of a copper roof. The whole roof was to receive an approved water-proof paper covering, laid horizontally with a four inch lap. The copper was described as 16-ounce soft roofing tempered, with sheets not to exceed 20 inches in width and 96 inches in length. to be secured with copper cleats 9 inches apart on centers, not to be more than 17 inches apart on centers. Seams to be locked, sweated and thoroughly soldered together. Now I would like to know, after 30 years, how is that old Senate House roof, did it ever leak after that new copper roof was put on?

A good sale or bargain counter always draws crowds. So you can imagine when I run through these old Freeman and Journals say of December 28, 1923 and see something like the following. Van Wagenen's was having a full page advertisement advertising their wares. One of the specials was aluminum ware 69 cents. "A cleanup of all pieces that sold regularly at $1 to $1.50. Four and six quart kettles, one and two quart double boilers, sauce pan sets, pudding pan sets, roasting pans, tube cake pans, etc., heavy weight, Sun Ray finish, any one for only 69 cents." The same store also had real leather hand bags for 69 cents. Single bed sheets were going for 69 cents.

Just found another small item on the Skillypot which made its last trip from Rondout to Sleightsburg Oct. 14, 1922. Item in Dec. 25, 1923 local paper, it said, that the Hasbrouck Estate was taking down the old waiting house at the Skillypot slip on Ferry street. When the ferry stopped running the little candy store trade dropped off so that the owner gave up. From then on the building began to go to ruin. Folks perhaps remember it. It was a frame building two stories in height. Inside was warm in the winter, and neat as a pin, run by a very nice lady who had all sorts of penny candy. There were frilly curtains at the window facing the Rondout creek, and I think she had flower pots there, and a rocking chair. She made waiting a pleasure with her sweet personality, if you bought candy or not. We bought although we had candy in our own store.

Lands in Henhouse

Washington, July 24 (AP)—The Senate dispute over air force funds landed in the henhouse. Sen. Ferguson (R.-Mich.), defending air force cutbacks, quoted the late William Knudsen, who directed World War 2 production, as saying: "You cannot hatch an egg any faster by putting two hens on it." "No," agreed Sen. Morse (Ind.-Ore.), "but one can get more chicks if he puts double the number of eggs under two hens, provided they can cover them." "That is correct," Ferguson agreed, "provided they can cover the eggs." They were debating whether more dollars would mean more aircraft.

1,200 Diamond Chips

New York, July 24 (AP)—Eleven-year-old Johnny Hayes found a couple of tiny "sparkling pebbles" in the basement laundry of a Brooklyn apartment house last night. Stepdad, Sol Gerber, took them to jeweler Sam Leddy. Said Leddy: Diamond chips. The policemen raked in about 1,200 of the pretty sparklers and estimated the value at around a dollar each. How the diamonds got into the laundry room nobody knew.

Police Break Up Teen Girl Gangs

New York, July 24 (AP)—Two teen-age girl gangs formed battle lines in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn last night and were ready to fight with ice picks and knives when police broke it up.

Veteran police said it was the first time in their memory that girl gangs prepared for formal combat, although teen-age girls often have carried weapons for gangs of boys.

The belligerent girls called themselves the Esquire Debutantes and the Cheyenne Debutantes. They agreed to a battle as the result of a dispute two days ago between an Esquire and a Cheyenne. The quarrel was over members of a boys' gang called the Mighty Chaplains, a group numbering 100 members.

A dozen members of the Cheyenne Debutantes faced about 30 members of the Esquire Debutantes when a radio car drove up.

Run from Police

When the two policemen jumped out of the car, the young battlers shrieked and fled. All of the Esquire Debutantes got away, some of them dropping their ice picks, switchblade knives and butcher knives.

The police grabbed four of the Cheyennes, and through questioning obtained the names and rounded up four other Cheyennes. Four of the girls were charged with illegal possession of weapons, conspiracy to engage in a gang fight, and unlawful assembly. The other four were charged with juvenile delinquency.

Picketing Injunction Adjourned to Monday

The hearing of a petition by two large Sullivan county resort hotels for an injunction against picketing by three AFL locals has been adjourned by Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick until Monday at 10 a. m.

Following the taking of testimony on Thursday, a conference was held by counsel for both sides, but apparently no agreement was reached, as witnesses were told to be back in court on Monday.

Petitioners in the action are Grossinger's and the Concord Hotel. The union locals are No. 29 of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes and Bartenders International Union; No. 32-E of Building Service Employes International Union, and No. 305 affiliated with the Office Employes International Union. They maintain offices jointly at Monticello.

Senate-House Conferees Agree on Creating SBA

Washington, July 24 (AP)—Senate-House conferees have agreed on a bill to dissolve the reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC) and create a Small Business Administration (SBA) with lending power of 275 million dollars.

RFC, set up 21 years ago in depression days, would lose its power to make loans 60 days after the bill became law. It would continue in liquidation until next June 30.

The bill is subject to final approval by the Senate and House and the President.

Confers on Korea

United Nations, July 24 (AP)—Lester B. Pearson of Canada, president of the UN General Assembly, today conferred with UN officials and delegates on the Korean question. Pearson arrived last night for a three-day visit to discuss plans for reconvening the 60-nation assembly in the event of a Korean armistice. It would be the assembly's job to work out plans for a political conference provided for in the draft armistice agreement. Pearson's schedule included a meeting with UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and a private luncheon with leading delegates.

Open on Farm Plans

Washington, July 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower was reported to have told a group of House Republicans today that the administration will have an open mind on any changes in the basic farm program until Congress has completed studies after adjournment of this session. Eight House Republicans who are members of the agriculture committee and the appropriations subcommittee on agriculture called on the President. They had asked for the meeting to discuss the drouth problem and how to dispose of huge surpluses of some farm commodities, among other things.

The nomination was seconded by Francis J. O'Neill, Sam N. Mann and Alderman Edwin Radel of the third ward. Escorted to the dais by Heppner, O'Neill, Mann and Mrs. Raymond McAndrew, FitzGerald made a short acceptance speech in which he said he will conduct "a hard, clean, fair campaign."

"If I am elected," he said, "I will work every day, and each night if necessary, to make Kingston a better place in which to live. If I am not elected, I will always cherish the honor you have bestowed upon me."

James H. Betts nominated Thomas Coughlin for the delegates' approval as alderman-at-large candidate. Betts pointed out that Coughlin has been a member of the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association for 25 years and is its incumbent president. Pointing to his record as Seventh Ward alderman, Betts said that Coughlin has been active in civic matters over a long period in Kingston.

Coughlin's nomination was seconded by Joseph Epstein, who called him "one of the best aldermen the city ever had." There were other seconds made from the floor. Escorted by Betts, Epstein, Mrs. Joseph Roach and John Worf, Coughlin accepted the designation, saying he will "give my full support to the candidate for mayor and the whole ticket." He criticized the issuance of bonds for street repair purposes.

No nominations were made for the designation as city judge candidate, and a motion was approved to leave the selection to the committee on vacancies.

Delegates approved unanimously a motion by Lawrence J. Quilty to send a resolution to the family of Maurice J. Tobin, former secretary of labor, who died July 19. Tobin was a speaker at the Democratic party's last annual dinner.

Thomas J. Plunket, Democratic county chairman, urged the party workers "not to sit back." Claiming that the slate presented at the Democratic convention "exceeds the qualifications of the Republican candidates," he said "we have to bring the message home." He stressed the statement by FitzGerald that he would spend full time on the duties of mayor, and contended that "the Republican candidate has said publicly that he will continue to practice law."

Also aboard the vessel returning from Korea is Pfc. Paul J. Roesch of State Quarry road, Rhinebeck.

Relic Is Ruined

Westport, Conn., July 24 (AP)—A muffled boom, an act of vandalism, signaled today the destruction of a cannon used during the Revolutionary War to repel the British. The eleven-foot cannon, reported Policeman Joseph Buccieri, apparently was stuffed with dynamite. The charge was then set off by a long fuse. Nearby residents said they heard the boom at about 3 a. m. The cannon sat on a point on Compo Beach overlooking Long Island Sound. The last time a shot had been fired from it was on April 28, 1777 when the British attempted a landing. Today's explosion tore the historic relic apart. A piece weighing about 20 pounds was found 75 feet away.

Car in Reservoir

An automobile owned by William Howard Williams of 50 Esopus avenue took an unscheduled plunge in a city of Kingston reservoir about 10:30 p. m. Thursday when its driver, Ronald L. Williams, 19, swerved to avoid hitting a dog on the Sawkill road, state police reported. There was no personal injury reported, no arrest, and the 1949 convertible coupe was towed from the water by a wrecker, troopers said.

Draper Is Executed

Ossining, July 24 (AP)—William H. Draper, 33, was electrocuted last night at Sing Sing Prison for beating to death elderly Jennie O'Keefe of Monroe county. Draper, who became a Roman Catholic during his 14-month stay in prison, was accompanied by the Rev. Thomas J. Donovan as he walked silently to the electric chair. He was pronounced dead at 10:04 p. m. (EST). Witnesses said the man looked frightened but said nothing during the last minutes of his life.

5,000 Reds Slam

said the height changed hands three times in bloody close combat.

The Chinese first scaled the allied-held hill after a 4½-hour battle which began about midnight, but were shoved down the slopes by counterattacking ROKs at dawn. The hill was quiet for a few hours, then was recaptured in a savage Red charge at noon which was protected by overcast skies that grounded allied warplanes.

Caught in Open

The U. S. 8th Army reported allied artillery caught five Chinese companies—about 800 soldiers—in the open in the Kumhwa-Kunsong valley on the central front and killed or wounded 270 Reds.

American and South Korean troops overpowered the Reds in six of nine other small but savage battles across the war-torn peninsula.

The South Koreans caught the brunt of what could be some of the final fighting in the three-year war. They counterattacked on four central front hills lost to the Reds this week, and recaptured one in a bloody fight with hand grenades and rifle butts.

Bitter fighting continued on the other three hills near the Kumsong river.

Assaults Torn Up

Allied machine guns and artillery tore up three Chinese assaults by about 150 men each northeast of Kumhwa, western anchor of allied lines on the central front and a vital allied road junction.

On the western front, soldiers of the U. S. 7th Infantry Division hurled back two similar Red assaults against outposts Dale and West View both in the irregular low hill area around Old Baldy and Pork Chop Hills.

Machine guns and artillery raked the Reds for two hours before they fell back from outpost Dale about midnight.

Fighting raged for 4½ hours on West View before the Reds were stopped just after midnight. A second wave hit in the early morning and kept up the fighting another hour before falling back.

There was no estimate of the Communist force in the two fights. But the intensity indicated possibly two full companies, or more than 300 men.

The U. S. 8th Army reported a handful of small Red probes across the winding front.

Smith Is Sure U. S.

China's UN seat is occupied by the Chinese Nationalists.

But the New Jersey senator said he expects the Communists to put on an adroit campaign to get Red China into the UN.

"I would not be at all surprised," he said, "if they offered to permit unification of Korea in return for admission. They might even agree to stop the shooting in Indochina.

'All Will Be Lost'

"If the Chinese Communist regime gets into the United Nations and consolidates its position, all of Asia will be lost."

Under the UN Charter, China is a permanent member of the Security Council, the most powerful unit of the organization. There has been some question whether the veto is applicable to the Red China situation. The veto clearly applies to the admission of a new member, but it has been argued that the substitution of representatives of one regime for another is a procedural question and not subject to the veto.

However, Smith and Sen. Wiley (R.-Wis.) both said Lodge held the view that an effort by the Communist regime to take Nationalist China's UN seat would be a substantive question, to which the veto applies.

In his public testimony, Lodge said he was confident any move to admit Red China would be defeated.

Lodge told the committee that "war would be inevitable if the United Nations disappeared."

He said the organization had its faults and limitations but, even so, "has been able, more than any other body in modern history, to organize peace and security."

Hoover and Farley

this week that they look for Hoover to serve as chairman.

Gets More Authority

The new commission will have considerably broader authority than the old Hoover commission on government reorganization had. The former President headed that unit from the time it was set up in 1947 until it completed its work in 1949.

In naming Hoover and Farley as public representatives on the new commission, Eisenhower said in a statement:

"The former President of the United States has once again placed his great talents at the disposal of the government, and I am sure that I speak for the people of the nation as I take this occasion to thank him publicly for responding to this call to duty.

"The government is fortunate that Mr. Farley has likewise agreed to help the commission in its work. His knowledge of government and its functions will be of inestimable value to the tremendous task confronting the commission."

Farley served as Democratic national chairman during the first two terms of Franklin D. Roosevelt. He also was postmaster general in the Roosevelt cabinet during that period.

Resort at Harris Leveled by Blaze

Monticello, July 24 (AP) — A spectacular early morning fire today leveled the 57-room Gross American House, a resort hotel at nearby Harris.

About 100 guests and 30 to 40 members of the staff fled into the night in nightclothes. None were reported injured, but few managed to save any belongings.

Liberty Fire Chief Dewey Borden estimated the loss at $100,000.

The blaze apparently started in the kitchen at the rear of the rambling structure and spread swiftly.

A passing trucker on Route 17 saw the flames, stopped and leaned on his horn to sound the alarm.

With the house set back from the road only about 25 feet, the heat and fire apparatus tied up traffic for three hours.

Also destroyed were a barn at the rear and three autos parked alongside the building.

Firemen from Monticello and Liberty, hampered by inadequate water supply, were able to save only an adjacent 2-story bungalow.

Tanker Burns, One

officers said he apparently drowned after leaping overboard to escape the flames.

In Philadelphia, the Curtis Bay Towing Co. reported that it had been unable to account for six crewmen aboard its tugs, the J. H. Deinlein and the Otoco. Both tugs were standing by the Pan-Georgia at the time the fire started. The company declined to name the missing men or give other information at this time.

Job Almost Finished

Wilmington, Del., July 24 (AP)—The 9,179-ton tanker Pan Georgia burst into flames last night as its crew completed unloading 110,000 gallons of high octane gasoline and fuel oil at a Delaware river dock here.

One crew member, Ray Ott, a second assistant engineer from Galveston, Tex., is missing and presumed dead. Ship officers said he apparently drowned after leaping overboard in the flurry of excitement which swept the ship.

Coast guardsmen and Wilmington firemen used grappling hooks in a search for his body.

Of the other crew members, 24 were rescued by coast guard and army engineer rescue boats and brought to Red Cross headquarters in Wilmington. Another 8 were admitted to Delaware Hospital where 2 of them are in critical condition from burns.

Stay to Fight Flames

Eight others, including Capt. Morgan A. Maxey, 36, of Port Arthur, Tex., stayed on board to battle the flames.

Maxey and the seven others who remained aboard were safe, the coast guard said.

Firemen had the fire under control three hours after flames first broke out shortly before midnight. This morning, there was no sign of fire but firemen still played water over the steaming decks.

There was no immediate estimate of the amount of damage.

Joseph H. Boland, 55, of Galveston, Tex., a member of the ship's mess, said he believed the fire started when a spark from a tugboat standing alongside the ship blew into an open hold of the tanker, touching off gasoline fumes.

The flames spread rapidly through the Pan Georgia, lighting her like a torch visible seven miles away.

The tug boat was preparing to pull the tanker from its dock into the river for a return voyage to Texas City, Tex.

Committee Okays

other aid to farmers and stockmen.

Eisenhower asked the money for aid in drouth areas but the committee recommended that loans be made available in any section where there is need for emergency credit.

The committee also proposed that emergency loans of less than $2,500 be made. Previous legislation set that figure as a minium size for emergency loans.

The committee's action sends an appropriation bill on to the House floor where it may come to a vote later today.

The money would be split up this way: 30 million for disaster loans, 60 million for special livestock loans, 40 million for feed and seed to be furnished free if necessary, and 20 million for regular production and subsistence loans by the Farmers' Home Administration.

Police Chiefs Name Thomas A. Eibler

Syracuse, July 24 (AP) — Police Chief Thomas A. Eibler of Rockville Centre is the new president of the New York State Association of Police Chiefs. He succeeds Leroy E. Wike of Endicott.

Eibler was elected yesterday at the close of the association's annual convention. About 450 chiefs and other officials attended the four-day meeting.

John C. Hergenhan of Armonk, was elected vice president.

A resolution adopted at the last session urged provision for judicial review in any case in which the governor removed a police chief.

The removal power was one of the six anti-crime measures recommended by Gov. Dewey and enacted last month at a special session of the Legislature.

Dewey said the law, which takes effect Sept. 1, was designed to stem local corruption. Under its terms, the governor may remove police chiefs after presenting charges.

The resolution directed the association's legislative committee to "propose an amendment . . . which will provide for a judicial review. In cases in which the governor exercises the power conferred under the existing law."

Negro Nominated For New York Run

New York, July 24 (AP)—Elmer Anderson Carter, 63-year-old Negro, has been nominated as the Republican candidate for borough president of Manhattan.

Carter, first Negro ever chosen by a major party to run for that office, is one of five commissioners appointed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to administer the state's Anti-Discrimination Law.

A former Democrat, Carter currently is not enrolled in any party.

Before announcing his nomination yesterday, Republican leaders passed a resolution at an executive committee meeting permitting Carter to enter the GOP primary.

Picked as Leader

Thomas J. Curran, Republican county chairman, said:

"We picked Mr. Carter on the basis of his standing as a citizen and as a leader of his race. We think he can make a great contribution to good government in this city."

Carter was born in Rochester, N. Y., attended Auburn, N. Y., public schools, Gloversville (N. Y.) High School and Harvard College.

A veteran of World War 1, he has served as secretary of the National Urban League in Columbus, Ohio, Louisville, Ky., and St. Paul. Minn.

First to Serve

Carter became the first Negro in the state's history to serve in a state-level administrative capacity. He was chosen in 1937 by former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman as one of three members of the Board of Appeals, appellate body of the Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance.

Lehman, a Democrat, now is a United States senator.

Carter formerly taught history and mathematics and coached the football team at Prairie View State College for Negroes at Prairie View, Tex.

Important Position

The Manhattan borough presidency post is one of the city's most important positions, since the borough president also is a member of the Board of Estimate, the city's highest governing body.

Republican leaders yesterday selected a woman candidate for a city council post. She is Mrs. Frances S. Moley, wife of columnist Raymond Moley, prominent in the early days of the New Deal under the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A Republican spokesman said Mrs. Moley joined the women's auxiliary of the New York County (Manhattan) GOP Committee about a year ago.

NATIONAL DEBT DILEMMA

If the Republicans are now compelled to raise the legal debt limit from its present level of $275 billion, the anguish in many GOP hearts will be great.

In fact, the situation is so full of little ironies that the pain may well prove excruciating for some lawmakers.

To begin with, it could prove very damaging politically to have to accept responsibility for boosting the limit. The Republicans, as everybody knows, campaigned for a balanced budget and lower taxes. Both goals seem at this moment a bit remote, and may still be when 1954—election year—rolls around.

Yet apparently there is no way to avoid this step. The $9.3 billion deficit for the fiscal year that closed June 30 pushed the debt to $272 billion. Of course, the budget that produced this deficit was a product of President Truman's administration, but that affords slight solace to wincing Republicans who must soon face the voters.

The GOP discomfort is compounded by the Democrats' postion in this matter. Whatever the facts about the fiscal situation inherited from Mr. Truman, the Democrats will be able to trumpet that their opponents actually raised the debt ceiling.

If this move is made, Democratic votes in Congress will be needed, unquestionably, to help bring it about. For enough Republicans are sure to fight it to force President Eisenhower's lieutenants to look to the other side of the aisle for backing.

So the Democrats will assist the GOP to accomplish an action which they may then proceed to denounce as proof that the Republicans' promises of economy were false.

The Democrats could, if they wished, play it another way. They might decline to lend voting aid. Then the ruling GOP would have to put the new and higher limit across all alone, or face the unprecedented dilemma of a debt limit which will not accommodate the expected deficit of this current fiscal year.

Not a happy outlook, and one can understand the squirming and fretting that has followed its disclosure.

The Republicans are learning what the Democrats had come painfully to realize before: the government has grown so large it is almost unmanageable. Only in the glib words of the campaigner do you lop off whole segments of this huge empire.

There's an old saying that enemies never really conquer China; they are in time absorbed by it. So it is, it would seem, with big government.

The only thing that moves faster than the new jet planes is a two-weeks' vacation.

LEAVING THE WILD

People are always hearing about the call of the wild, and the urge of civilized man to go back to the primitive—at least for a few days, on vacation—but not so often do they hear of the wild life heeding the call of civilization. In Yonkers, however, there must be something singularly attractive.

First there was a plague of bees, taken care of by the police with a good deal of trouble. Then later a deer moved in and moved about the streets. Last heard of was a mother fox with a brood of little foxes. They found what seemed a nice, safe cave—a basement window well in someone's home. At some disturbance the mother fled with one cub, and the police managed to snare the other three and let them loose in a near-by woodland.

Yonkers is usually thought of as a mere extension to New York City. But even a great metropolis has to come to an end some time, and back of Yonkers begin the remains of field and forest country along the Hudson River, which was there long before people lived in apartments and will doubtless be there for a long time to come. It does the city-dweller no harm to realize that he is not the only being on this earth. Even deer and bees and foxes have rights.

But what a nuisance the wild things can be in a city! Almost as bad as the tourist with his speeding car and carelessly dropped cigaret in the woods!

LEGITIMACY

Governments, like individuals, seek legitimacy, if it is possible. Even governments which are the products of revolution desire a continuing relationship with the past, once the revolution and the attendant reign of terror are over. Respectability requires not only a due regard for national traditions but a nexus with the historic past of the nation.

It was this sense of relationships which so impressed Talleyrand and impelled Napoleon to cast aside his wife, Josephine, and to marry into the Hapsburgs, which thus made his progeny, if not himself, the legitimate ruler of France. He married into regal respectability. The same motive dominated the thinking of the Holy Alliance after the Conference of Vienna in 1815.

Even in China, where the people were accustomed to changes in dynasties, several of them of non-Chinese origin, legitimacy played so great a role that Sun Yat-sen changed the capital from Peking to Nanking because the North refused to acknowledge him. After his death, he was deified by public opinion. Thereupon, Chiang Kai-shek established himself as Sun Yat-sen's heir and ruled the country with that sanction. Even Mao Tze-tung finds it advantageous to use Mme. Sun Yat-sen in his government because it gives his regime an aura of legitimacy.

The Russian Revolution started as a palace uprising with Prince Lvov in charge, supported by members of the Romanov family. When Kerensky took over, his was called the Provisional Government and an effort was made to find some continuing basis in traditional Russian life and government. The Constituent Assembly was called for the purpose of giving Democratic authority to the change of regime. I was present at this meeting in 1917 when the Bolsheviks killed the Constituent Assembly. In terms of political organization, that was the effective climax of the Russian Revolution.

Lenin and Trotsky founded the Soviet State as a revolutionary act, based upon the will of a minority, accompanied by a devastating terror. Civil war and foreign intervention provided a justification for the terror, as they had for the French Revolutionists who eventually succumbed to Napoleon.

The Lenin regime was alien, based upon the concepts of a German philosopher, Karl Marx. However, as the years passed, the pull of tradition was so great that autocracy rather than dictatorship of the proletariat reasserted itself. Autocracy is an indigenous Russian concept of government. Ivan the Terrible is a Russian prototype of ruler and he became Stalin's hero.

Thus Stalin departed from the Marxist-Leninist ideas of government and restored the normal Russian method, autocracy. But Stalin needed legitimacy which Lenin never tried to establish. Stalin created a god—Lenin. Everything he did was in the name of Lenin. Stalin killed Trotsky and most of the old Bolsheviks, purging millions of persons, in order to leave no possibility of a challenge to his right to be an autocrat. Yet, it was not until World War II that Stalin, the hated, became Stalin the author of victory.

One phase of the present struggle in Russia is that there is no legitimate method for change of the top officials in Soviet Russia. Actually, in an autocracy, the only legitimate method of change can be by inheritance. Stalin had re-established autocracy but failed to produce a method of inheritance. He could not pass the government to his son; he chose his closest associates, Malenkov, Beria and Molotov. But in an autocracy, as in a democracy, the head of state cannot be a committee. Stalin must have known that because he was one of a committee of three, Kamenev, Zinoviev and Stalin, who succeeded to Lenin's power. Stalin killed Kamenev and Zinoviev and restored the czarist autocracy.

Malenkov has now removed Beria, but that does not solve his problem, for whereas he can, by murder, establish legitimate succession to Stalin, he has not been able to become an autocrat. He still is controlled by a small Presidium and the army is asserting measures of independence—how much is not clear.

It took Stalin 12 years to become an autocrat. How long it will take Malenkov or someone else to become an autocrat and how much blood will be shed before the normal autocracy is established no one can guess. But this seems clear from Russian history: autocracy is the normal political concept of the Russians and whoever can be the autocrat will take over.

That Body of Yours

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

Physicians who have studied the problem of alcoholism place the method of Alcoholics Anonymous as the most successful in results.

While some physicians do not believe that alcoholism should be called a disease, most physicians feel that as the alcoholic is unable to stop drinking, there is something in his make-up that makes resolutions fail, as respect for himself, love of family, are not sufficient to prevent alcoholism. The alcoholic needs help.

The success of Alcoholics Anonymous is due to the fact that the alcoholic "wants" to stop drinking and that he recognizes the need for help outside himself.

The alcoholic must have a genuine desire to stop drinking and must have reached a point in his drinking career when the pain of not drinking becomes more powerful than the pleasure of alcohol escape.

In "Medical Clinics of North America," Dr. Curtis T. Prout, Assistant Professor of Psychiatry, Cornell University Medical College, after discussing drug and other methods of treating alcoholism, states: Alcoholics Anonymous, the society of former excessive drinkers, have been convinced that, for them, drinking constitutes an unmanageable problem. The society has grown rapidly since its origin in 1935. Every member of A.A. is firmly impressed with the fact that alcoholism is an illness and that as an alcoholic he is a sick person." This puts the alcoholic in a class with other sick individuals who state that they are diabetics or arthritics.

The "program of recovery" from which Alcoholics Anonymous has evolved is known as the "Twelve Steps."

1. We admitted we were powerless over alcohol, that our lives had become unmanageable.
2. Came to believe that a Power greater than ourselves could restore us to sanity.
3. Made a decision to turn our will and our lives over to the care of God as we understood Him.
4. Made a searching and fearless moral inventory of ourselves.
5. Admitted to God, to ourselves, and to another human being the exact nature of our wrongs.
6. Were entirely ready to have God remove all these defects of character.
7. Humbly ask Him to remove our shortcomings.
8. Make a list of all persons we had harmed and became willing to make amends to them all.
9. Made direct amends to such people whenever possible, except when to do so would injure them or others.
10. Continued to take personal inventory and when we were wrong, promptly admit it.
11. Sought through prayer and meditation to improve our conscious contact with God and as we understood Him, praying only for knowledge of His will for us and the power to carry that out.
12. Having had a spiritual experience as a result of these steps, we tried to carry the message to alcoholics and to practice these principles in our affairs.

They Have Nothing If Not Variety

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The most stimulating personality in Washington today — when you can catch him—is G. Yates Cook.

He is a wiry, black-haired and black-eyed ball of fire who has tackled one of the biggest jobs ever undertaken. It is a nation-wide campaign by private builders to wipe out slums in the United States.

Yates Cook doesn't work for the government. He has been hired by the National Association of Home Builders—the trade association and lobby for the building industry, if you please. Last January, at their annual convention, NAHB decided to launch this public service crusade to build "a new face for America."

The Home Builders took this step not out of any altruism or deep sense of social consciousness. They decided there was money in it. The rehabilitation of slum areas, they decided, was the biggest thing they could do to stop constantly declining city property values.

They hired Yates Cook to head up their crusade because he knew more and had done more about slum clearance than anybody in the country.

Started in Baltimore

Twelve years ago, at 31, Yates Cook joined the Baltimore Health Department as a one-man housing division to inspect Baltimore's slums. Almost alone, he turned the town inside out simply by insisting on compliance with health, sanitation and building ordinances already on the books.

He set up a special housing court to deal with violations by landlords. Four years after he went to work on it, he got his first block-by-block housing law enforcement plan under way. Since then, in what has become known as "the Baltimore Plan," 16,000 slum dwelling units have been restored at practically no cost to the taxpayers. And today, Baltimore has 40 slum inspectors at work.

"Baltimore never really went after it," says Mr. Cook in somewhat of an understatement today. "The biggest thing we did was tear down fences. That showed up the dirt.

"We showed that a law could be enforced," he goes on. "We proved that the slum landlord was a powerful political force. But we also showed that one photograph could beat the best defense lawyers they could hire.

"The program was never understood by the city government. We proved that larger areas could be cleaned up faster. But the city hall said we were going fast enough as it was."

So young Yates Cook moved on to the bigger, national field of slum clearance. Today he is constantly on the go. From April—when he first took over his job—to the end of June he had visited 30 cities. Twelve of them were in Texas.

For the month of July Yates Cook is booked solid including stops in Rochester, Memphis, Cleveland and Chicago. Part of the time he will be touring with Guy Hollyday, the new Federal Housing Commissioner. Mr. Hollyday, a mortgage banker in private life, was a member of Cook's advisory committee in Baltimore and knows all about him. So here is a team to watch. "The federal government's public housing program has definitely helped slum clearance all over the country," says Mr. Cook with conviction.

Mobilizes Community Action

The procedure, when Yates Cook moves into a community for action, has already been reduced to something of a standard performance. The local chapter of the Home Builders Association arranges a luncheon to which all civic leaders are invited. Yates makes his talk in crackling, machine-gun style.

He shows old one-family houses "remodeled" so that one family now lives in every room, paying $15 to $20 a week in rent. "They say slums are low-rent housing," says Cook. "It's really the highest-priced and most profitable real estate there is. In Baltimore, one slum landlord started from scratch and in three years was worth $250,000."

After shocking the leading citizens out of their complacency with about an hour of this, while they hang on every word, Mr. Cook takes the mayor or the city manager on a tour of the slums, just to show the officials what they don't know about their own community.

After that they go sit down some place quietly while Mr. Cook outlines what has to be done if they want to clean up slums.

President Roosevelt used to talk about one-third of the nation being ill-housed. Yates Cook says it's worse than that, because slums account for 45 per cent of the major crimes, 55 per cent of the juvenile delinquency, 50 per cent of the arrests, 50 per cent of the disease. "But in the last ten years," he adds optimistically, "we've made centuries of progress in our thinking."

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

July 24, 1933 — Ontario and Western locomotive and truck collide near Summitville Station. Seth Jackson, engineer, and C. C. Scales, fireman, both of Middletown, were removed to a hospital in that city and Ira Ter Bush, driver of the truck, went to an Ellenville hospital.

John Delora of Tillson and Adele Cafiero of Brooklyn were married in New York. Blanche Van Keuren and Rudolph DeSilva, both of Boiceville, are married.

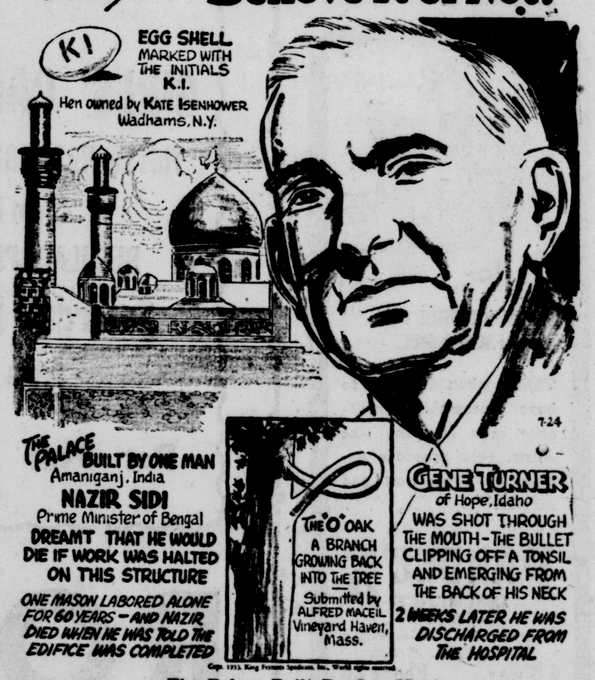

July 24, 1943—Harold Roger Weston, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Weston of 36 New street, has been promoted from first lieutenant to captain at Camp Lee, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. John Glass of 28 Flatbush avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Glass, to Kenneth Douglas.

The Little Gardens Club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Niles of 193 Pearl street.

Approximately 350 children and parents attended a party at Block Park.

The Palace Built By One Man!

The structure known as Shubikerbella at Amaniganj, India, was built for Nazir Sidi, prime minister of Bengal. He dreamt one night that his death would follow immediately upon the completion of the edifice, so he allowed only one mason to work on it during his lifetime. It took the one man sixty years (1821-1881) and, as soon as he finished, Nazir died and was interred in it.

Eisenhower's Reply Occasions Varied Talk, Some Hinting Defensive Attitude

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 24—President Eisenhower's reply at his press conference this week to a question asking for an appraisal of his first six months in office has occasioned a variety of comments—some of them making the point that the President seemed on the defensive.

Mr. Eisenhower is not the type to blow his own horn, and yet he is well aware that people are impatient for certain fundamental changes in the Truman policies that have not yet been made. There was something, therefore, modest and restrained in the President's evaluation of his first half-year. Actually he has made real progress in learning what the presidency is about.

Disinterested persons, irrespective of political affiliation, will concede not only that Mr. Eisenhower is as well liked as any President in a half century, but that there exists on almost every side a sincere wish to have him succeed.

Having paid tribute to Mr. Eisenhower's conscientiousness of purpose and fairness, as he understands the issues, one can still say that his first six months have recorded a number of negative developments for which misguided advisers have been largely responsible. Every President is in a sense a puppet. He is pushed in one direction or the other by those with a prejudice in favor of this or that policy, and often the group pressures reach him and influence him when he least suspects them.

There are, however, certain inexorable rules about politics in which sound advisers would have within six months indoctrinated Mr. Eisenhower. Thus, for example, it is politically a mistake to plunge headlong into any unnecessary controversy within one's own party—especially when it has such a narrow margin as a majority.

The Bohlen episode was hailed as a "victory," but it was a costly one. The fight against Representative Dan Reed on the excess-profits tax left wounds that will not soon be healed. If the administration had let the House members vote as they wished on that issue, the Senate could have adjusted the measure in conference. As it is, the principle of "no change" in the tax laws now has been broken anyway by a bill that reduces taxes on movies which, it is conceded, will not reduce the admission price but will save many movie houses by letting them pocket the difference. It cuts $100,000,000 in tax revenue, too.

Also the vote on foreign aid in the House shows a growing hostility to the administration which is not exactly an accumulation of resentments but is an insistence on what most of the Republicans think is a Republican viewpoint in accord with campaign promises.

Worst of all was the President's ill-advised and unnecessary speech at Dartmouth on "book burning"—a reflection on his own Department of State—which was hailed with glee by Democrats but which has caused bad feeling in Republican ranks in Congress. Next was Mr. Eisenhower's issuance of an unfortunately phrased telegram on the Matthews affair, which again was a superfluous act from a political viewpoint — an unnecessary manifestation of hostility toward a substantial number of Republicans in America who feel deeply on the subject of "left wing" penetration into our institutions.

The President told his press conference he has not been trying to create friction or indulge in personalities. He has failed nevertheless to erase the impression on Capitol Hill that he has declared war on a large body of American citizens throughout the country who happen to think McCarthy's anti-Communist crusade has been necessary to alert other citizens on how readily the Communist conspiracy can dupe well-meaning clergymen, for instance, to say nothing of persons in other institutions like labor unions, the press, and the colleges.

But, irrespective of the merits of these controversial subjects, the fact remains that after six months the Republican Party is split badly and "harmony" is sadly missing in Congress, and it goes deeper than mere "differences of opinion." It is all the more tragic because sound political advice could have prevented the break. Maybe the next six months will bring a reconciliation. The President will learn with more experience that, while a battle with Republicans in Congress and the alienation of millions of Republican voters throughout the country may bring applause from Democrats and "left wingers" who never vote the Republican ticket anyhow, such tactics will not win more seats for the Republican Party in Congress in 1954.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

You will learn something about the inwardness of the developing effort of the New Dealers to split and destroy the Republican party if you will read my running commentaries on the maneuvers of the New York Times and the Herald Tribune to shove President Eisenhower into a fight with the anti-Communist Republicans. If these papers can goad Ike into an open break with Senator Joe McCarthy, a strong element of Republicans will string with Joe and the party will be done.

The New York Times never was Republican. Its "conversion" in 1951-52 was so fishy that, after Ike had been put over in Chicago, it had to run a special editorial denying rumors that it was going to ditch Ike and go Democratic again.

The H-T, with its career of book-burning, its guilt in retaining Joe Barnes as editor long after he had become notorious for his Communist associations, is obliged to discredit anti-Communist exposes for its own survival. On the subject of book-burning, which it now deplores in hollow piety, I have a letter from the editor of its Sunday book-section blandly assuring me that it withheld approval of a book by John Roy Carlson, a sniveling liar, until the H-T had cleared him with the FBI. Then it acclaimed his paltry rubbish. John Edgar Hoover denied clearing this fraud, but the point is that the H-T was putting a book to a phoney loyalty test long before Joe McCarthy called attention to the presence of books by Red authors in our American libraries in Europe. And Joe didn't ask anyone to burn them, either. He just thought it was wrong to spend our taxes to enhance the renown and the fortunes of enemies of our country.

The Times and the H-T have taken up the defense of William P. Bundy, employed in the Central Intelligence Agency, who is married to a daughter of Dean Acheson. Bundy gave $400 to the defense of Acheson's friend, Alger Hiss.

They say the fact that he married Acheson's daughter does not imply guilt. Amen to that! But, if it should turn out that Bundy is still a friend of Hiss, how about that? What if he agrees with his father-in-law on foreign policy and Communists in government?

On that point, there is a statement by Bundy's brother, McGeorge Bundy, in his book, "The Pattern of Responsibility." This book is a lavish endorsement of Acheson's foreign policy. It is also an apology for Acheson's sympathy for Hiss.

McGeorge Bundy wrote: "I must end with a declaration of personal interest. Mr. Acheson and my father have been close friends across the party wall for many years. More recently, to their shared pride, there has been a family connection. I do not believe that friendship or indirect family connection is a bar to fair and honest defense, especially when that defense takes the form of allowing a man to speak for himself."

He meant that he stood up for Acheson's right to speak for himself, a right which nobody ever tried to deny. And he also meant that there was a strong family tie which certainly may be presumed in the case of his brother, William, too.

The real Republicans who voted for Ike because they couldn't vote for Taft, honestly hoped that they would get a Republican President who would clean out the State Department, the CIA and all other mysterious hiding places of those who couldn't turn their backs on the likes of Alger Hiss. But now Ike invokes secrecy for the CIA to make it impossible for McCarthy or anyone else to expose traitors or other unreliable persons in the CIA and its related bureaus. On the contrary, Ike is trying to make Joe seem traitorous in proposing to do this.

McGeorge Bundy demands that a man under suspicion be allowed to speak for himself. But McCarthy is trying to persuade his brother, William, to speak for himself and, for that, Ike reproves him.

Another significant line in McGeorge Bundy's book says that, as a student of foreign policy, he cites the New York Times with absolute confidence. Well, I too, cite the Times, but most often to

Bird Business

Wichita Falls, Tex. (AP) — Tiny birds are bringing financial independence to a wheelchair occupant. Bill Stalcup, 29, confined to a wheelchair nine years, raises budgerigars, a breed of small parakeets. He started last fall. The state vocational rehabilitation office designed an aviary in which Stalcup could maneuver his wheelchair. The agency gave him seven pairs of birds to get started. Stalcup already has sold about 100 birds. He hopes to sell 1,000 birds a year. At about $10 a bird, he figures on a tidy income.

NATIONAL DEBT DILEMMA

If the Republicans are now compelled to raise the legal debt limit from its present level of $275 billion, the anguish in many GOP hearts will be great.

In fact, the situation is so full of little ironies that the pain may well prove excruciating for some lawmakers.

To begin with, it could prove very damaging politically to have to accept responsibility for boosting the limit. The Republicans, as everybody knows, campaigned for a balanced budget and lower taxes. Both goals seem at this moment a bit remote, and may still be when 1954—election year—rolls around.

Yet apparently there is no way to avoid this step. The $9.3 billion deficit for the fiscal year that closed June 30 pushed the debt to $272 billion. Of course, the budget that produced this deficit was a product of President Truman's administration, but that affords slight solace to wincing Republicans who must soon face the voters.

The GOP discomfort is compounded by the Democrats' postion in this matter. Whatever the facts about the fiscal situation inherited from Mr. Truman, the Democrats will be able to trumpet that their opponents actually raised the debt ceiling.

If this move is made, Democratic votes in Congress will be needed, unquestionably, to help bring it about. For enough Republicans are sure to fight it to force President Eisenhower's lieutenants to look to the other side of the aisle for backing.

So the Democrats will assist the GOP to accomplish an action which they may then proceed to denounce as proof that the Republicans' promises of economy were false.

The Democrats could, if they wished, play it another way. They might decline to lend voting aid. Then the ruling GOP would have to put the new and higher limit across all alone, or face the unprecedented dilemma of a debt limit which will not accommodate the expected deficit of this current fiscal year.

Not a happy outlook, and one can understand the squirming and fretting that has followed its disclosure.

The Republicans are learning what the Democrats had come painfully to realize before: the government has grown so large it is almost unmanageable. Only in the glib words of the campaigner do you lop off whole segments of this huge empire.

There's an old saying that enemies never really conquer China; they are in time absorbed by it. So it is, it would seem, with big government.

The only thing that moves faster than the new jet planes is a two-weeks' vacation.

LEAVING THE WILD

People are always hearing about the call of the wild, and the urge of civilized man to go back to the primitive—at least for a few days, on vacation—but not so often do they hear of the wild life heeding the call of civilization. In Yonkers, however, there must be something singularly attractive.

First there was a plague of bees, taken care of by the police with a good deal of trouble. Then later a deer moved in and moved about the streets. Last heard of was a mother fox with a brood of little foxes. They found what seemed a nice, safe cave—a basement window well in someone's home. At some disturbance the mother fled with one cub, and the police managed to snare the other three and let them loose in a near-by woodland.

Yonkers is usually thought of as a mere extension to New York City. But even a great metropolis has to come to an end some time, and back of Yonkers begin the remains of field and forest country along the Hudson River, which was there long before people lived in apartments and will doubtless be there for a long time to come. It does the city-dweller no harm to realize that he is not the only being on this earth. Even deer and bees and foxes have rights.

But what a nuisance the wild things can be in a city! Almost as bad as the tourist with his speeding car and carelessly dropped cigaret in the woods!

LEGITIMACY

Governments, like individuals, seek legitimacy, if it is possible. Even governments which are the products of revolution desire a continuing relationship with the past, once the revolution and the attendant reign of terror are over. Respectability requires not only a due regard for national traditions but a nexus with the historic past of the nation.

It was this sense of relationships which so impressed Talleyrand and impelled Napoleon to cast aside his wife, Josephine, and to marry into the Hapsburgs, which thus made his progeny, if not himself, the legitimate ruler of France. He married into regal respectability. The same motive dominated the thinking of the Holy Alliance after the Conference of Vienna in 1815.

Even in China, where the people were accustomed to changes in dynasties, several of them of non-Chinese origin, legitimacy played so great a role that Sun Yat-sen changed the capital from Peking to Nanking because the North refused to acknowledge him. After his death, he was deified by public opinion. Thereupon, Chiang Kai-shek established himself as Sun Yat-sen's heir and ruled the country with that sanction. Even Mao Tze-tung finds it advantageous to use Mme. Sun Yat-sen in his government because it gives his regime an aura of legitimacy.

The Russian Revolution started as a palace uprising with Prince Lvov in charge, supported by members of the Romanov family. When Kerensky took over, his was called the Provisional Government and an effort was made to find some continuing basis in traditional Russian life and government. The Constituent Assembly was called for the purpose of giving Democratic authority to the change of regime. I was present at this meeting in 1917 when the Bolsheviks killed the Constituent Assembly. In terms of political organization, that was the effective climax of the Russian Revolution.

Lenin and Trotsky founded the Soviet State as a revolutionary act, based upon the will of a minority, accompanied by a devastating terror. Civil war and foreign intervention provided a justification for the terror, as they had for the French Revolutionists who eventually succumbed to Napoleon.

The Lenin regime was alien, based upon the concepts of a German philosopher, Karl Marx. However as the years passed, the pull of tradition was so great that autocracy rather than dictatorship of the proletariat reasserted itself. Autocracy is an indigenous Russian concept of government. Ivan the Terrible is a Russian prototype of ruler and he became Stalin's hero.

Thus Stalin departed from the Marxist-Leninist ideas of government and restored the normal Russian method, autocracy. But Stalin needed legitimacy which Lenin never tried to establish. Stalin created a god—Lenin. Everything he did was in the name of Lenin. Stalin killed Trotsky and most of the old Bolsheviks, purging millions of persons, in order to leave no possibility of a challenge to his right to be an autocrat. Yet, it was not until World War II that Stalin, the hated, became Stalin the author of victory.

One phase of the present struggle in Russia is that there is no legitimate method for change of the top officials in Soviet Russia. Actually, in an autocracy, the only legitimate method of change can be by inheritance. Stalin had re-established autocracy but failed to produce a method of inheritance. He could not pass the government to his son; he chose his closest associates, Malenkov, Beria and Molotov. But in an autocracy, as in a democracy, the head of state cannot be a committee. Stalin must have known that because he was one of a committee of three, Kamenev, Zinoviev and Stalin, who succeeded to Lenin's power. Stalin killed Kamenev and Zinoviev and restored the czarist autocracy.

Malenkov has now removed Beria, but that does not solve his problem, for whereas he can, by murder, establish legitimate succession to Stalin, he has not been able to become an autocrat. He still is controlled by a small Presidium and the army is asserting measures of independence—how much is not clear.

It took Stalin 12 years to become an autocrat. How long it will take Malenkov or someone else to become an autocrat and how much blood will be shed before the normal autocracy is established no one can guess. But this seems clear from Russian history: autocracy is the normal political concept of the Russians and whoever can be the autocrat will take over.

That Body of Yours

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

Physicians who have studied the problem of alcoholism place the method of Alcoholics Anonymous as the most successful in results.

While some physicians do not believe that alcoholism should be called a disease, most physicians feel that as the alcoholic is unable to stop drinking, there is something in his make-up that makes resolutions fail, as respect for himself, love of family, are not sufficient to prevent alcoholism. The alcoholic needs help.

The success of Alcoholics Anonymous is due to the fact that the alcoholic "wants" to stop drinking and that he recognizes the need for help outside himself.

The alcoholic must have a genuine desire to stop drinking and must have reached a point in his drinking career when the pain of not drinking becomes more powerful than the pleasure of alcohol escape.

In "Medical Clinics of North America," Dr. Curtis T. Prout, Assistant Professor of Psychiatry, Cornell University Medical College, after discussing drug and other methods of treating alcoholism, states: Alcoholics Anonymous, the society of former excessive drinkers, have been convinced that, for them, drinking constitutes an unmanageable problem. The society has grown rapidly since its origin in 1935. Every member of A.A. is firmly impressed with the fact that alcoholism is an illness and that as an alcoholic he is a sick person." This puts the alcoholic in a class with other sick individuals who state that they are diabetics or arthritics.

The "program of recovery" from which Alcoholics Anonymous has evolved is known as the "Twelve Steps."

1. We admitted we were powerless over alcohol, that our lives had become unmanageable.
2. Came to believe that a Power greater than ourselves could restore us to sanity.
3. Made a decision to turn our will and our lives over to the care of God as we understood Him.
4. Made a searching and fearless moral inventory of ourselves.
5. Admitted to God, to ourselves, and to another human being the exact nature of our wrongs.
6. Were entirely ready to have God remove all these defects of character.
7. Humbly ask Him to remove our shortcomings.
8. Make a list of all persons we had harmed and became willing to make amends to them all.
9. Made direct amends to such people whenever possible, except when to do so would injure them or others.
10. Continued to take personal inventory and when we were wrong, promptly admit it.
11. Sought through prayer and meditation to improve our conscious contact with God and as we understood Him, praying only for knowledge of His will for us and the power to carry that out.
12. Having had a spiritual experience as a result of these steps, we tried to carry the message to alcoholics and to practice these principles in our affairs.

They Have Nothing If Not Variety

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The most stimulating personality in Washington today — when you can catch him—is G. Yates Cook.

He is a wiry, black-haired and black-eyed ball of fire who has tackled one of the biggest jobs ever undertaken. It is a nation-wide campaign by private builders to wipe out slums in the United States.

Yates Cook doesn't work for the government. He has been hired by the National Association of Home Builders—the trade association and lobby for the building industry, if you please. Last January, at their annual convention, NAHB decided to launch this public service crusade to build "a new face for America."

The Home Builders took this step not out of any altruism or deep sense of social consciousness. They decided there was money in it. The rehabilitation of slum areas, they decided, was the biggest thing they could do to stop constantly declining city property values.

They hired Yates Cook to head up their crusade because he knew more and had done more about slum clearance than anybody in the country.

Started in Baltimore

Twelve years ago, at 31, Yates Cook joined the Baltimore Health Department as a one-man housing division to inspect Baltimore's slums. Almost alone, he turned the town inside out simply by insisting on compliance with health, sanitation and building ordinances already on the books.

He set up a special housing court to deal with violations by landlords. Four years after he went to work on it, he got his first block-by-block housing law enforcement plan under way. Since then, in what has become known as "the Baltimore Plan," 16,000 slum dwelling units have been restored at practically no cost to the taxpayers. And today, Baltimore has 40 slum inspectors at work.

"Baltimore never really went after it," says Mr. Cook in somewhat of an understatement today. "The biggest thing we did was tear down fences. That showed up the dirt.

"We showed that a law could be enforced," he goes on. "We proved that the slum landlord was a powerful political force. But we also showed that one photograph could beat the best defense lawyers they could hire.

"The program was never understood by the city government. We proved that larger areas could be cleaned up faster. But the city hall said we were going fast enough as it was."

So young Yates Cook moved on to the bigger, national field of slum clearance. Today he is constantly on the go. From April—when he first took over his job—to the end of June he had visited 30 cities. Twelve of them were in Texas.

For the month of July Yates Cook is booked solid including stops in Rochester, Memphis, Cleveland and Chicago. Part of the time he will be touring with Guy Hollyday, the new Federal Housing Commissioner. Mr. Hollyday, a mortgage banker in private life, was a member of Cook's advisory committee in Baltimore and knows all about him. So here is a team to watch. "The federal government's public housing program has definitely helped slum clearance all over the country," says Mr. Cook with conviction.

Mobilizes Community Action

The procedure, when Yates Cook moves into a community for action, has already been reduced to something of a standard performance. The local chapter of the Home Builders Association arranges a luncheon to which all civic leaders are invited. Yates makes his talk in crackling, machine-gun style.

He shows old one-family houses "remodeled" so that one family now lives in every room, paying $15 to $20 a week in rent. "They say slums are low-rent housing," says Cook. "It's really the highest-priced and most profitable real estate there is. In Baltimore, one slum landlord started from scratch and in three years was worth $250,000."

After shocking the leading citizens out of their complacency with about an hour of this, while they hang on every word, Mr. Cook takes the mayor or the city manager on a tour of the slums, just to show the officials what they don't know about their own community.

After that they go sit down some place quietly while Mr. Cook outlines what has to be done if they want to clean up slums.

President Roosevelt used to talk about one-third of the nation being ill-housed. Yates Cook says it's worse than that, because slums account for 45 per cent of the major crimes, 55 per cent of the juvenile delinquency, 50 per cent of the arrests, 50 per cent of the disease. "But in the last ten years," he adds optimistically, "we've made centuries of progress in our thinking."

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

July 24, 1933—Ontario and Western locomotive and truck collide near Summitville Station. Seth Jackson, engineer, and C. C. Scales, fireman, both of Middletown, were removed to a hospital in that city and Ira Ter Bush, driver of the truck, went to an Ellenville hospital.

John U. Clarke, Kingston High School valedictorian of the class of 1933, is awarded a Cornell scholarship. He obtained an examination percentage of 96.

John Delora of Tillson and Adele Cafiero of Brooklyn were married in New York. Blanche Van Keuren and Rudolph DeSilva, both of Boiceville, are married.

July 24, 1943—Harold Roger Weston, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Weston of 36 New street, has been promoted from first lieutenant to captain at Camp Lee, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. John Glass of 28 Flatbush avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Glass, to Kenneth Douglas.

The Little Gardens Club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Niles of 193 Pearl street.

Approximately 350 children and parents attended a party at Block Park.

The Palace Built By One Man!

The structure known as Shubikerbella at Amaniganj, India, was built for Nazir Sidi, prime minister of Bengal. He dreamt one night that his death would follow immediately upon the completion of the edifice, so he allowed only one mason to work on it during his lifetime. It took the one man sixty years (1821-1881) and, as soon as he finished, Nazir died and was interred in it.

Eisenhower's Reply Occasions Varied Talk, Some Hinting Defensive Attitude

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 24—President Eisenhower's reply at his press conference this week to a question asking for an appraisal of his first six months in office has occasioned a variety of comments—some of them making the point that the President seemed on the defensive.

Mr. Eisenhower is not the type to blow his own horn, and yet he is well aware that people are impatient for certain fundamental changes in the Truman policies that have not yet been made. There was something, therefore, modest and restrained in the President's evaluation of his first half-year. Actually he has made real progress in learning what the presidency is about.

Disinterested persons, irrespective of political affiliation, will concede not only that Mr. Eisenhower is as well liked as any President in a half century, but that there exists on almost every side a sincere wish to have him succeed.

Having paid tribute to Mr. Eisenhower's conscientiousness of purpose and fairness, as he understands the issues, one can still say that his first six months have recorded a number of negative developments for which misguided advisers have been largely responsible. Every President is in a sense a puppet. He is pushed in one direction or the other by those with a prejudice in favor of this or that policy, and often the group pressures reach him and influence him when he least suspects them.

There are, however, certain inexorable rules about politics in which sound advisers would have within six months indoctrinated Mr. Eisenhower. Thus, for example, it is politically a mistake to plunge headlong into any unnecessary controversy within one's own party—especially when it has such a narrow margin as a majority.

The Bohlen episode was hailed as a "victory," but it was a costly one. The fight against Representative Dan Reed on the excess-profits tax left wounds that will not soon be healed. If the administration had let the House members vote as they wished on that issue, the Senate could have adjusted the measure in conference. As it is, the principle of "no change" in the tax laws now has been broken anyway by a bill that reduces taxes on movies which, it is conceded, will not reduce the admission price but will save many movie houses by letting them pocket the difference. It cuts $100,000,000 in tax revenue, too.

Also the vote on foreign aid in the House shows a growing hostility to the administration which is not exactly an accumulation of resentments but is an insistence on what most of the Republicans think is a Republican viewpoint in accord with campaign promises.

Worst of all was the President's ill-advised and unnecessary speech at Dartmouth on "book burning"—a reflection on his own Department of State—which was hailed with glee by Democrats but which has caused bad feeling in Republican ranks in Congress. Next was Mr. Eisenhower's issuance of an unfortunately phrased telegram on the Matthews affair, which again was a superfluous act from a political viewpoint — an unnecessary manifestation of hostility toward a substantial number of Republicans in America who feel deeply on the subject of "left wing" penetration into our institutions.

The President told his press conference he has not been trying to create friction or indulge in personalities. He has failed nevertheless to erase the impression on Capitol Hill that he has declared war on a large body of American citizens throughout the country who happen to think McCarthy's anti-Communist crusade has been necessary to alert other citizens on how readily the Communist conspiracy can dupe well-meaning clergymen, for instance, to say nothing of persons in other institutions like labor unions, the press, and the colleges.

But, irrespective of the merits of these controversial subjects, the fact remains that after six months the Republican Party is split badly and "harmony" is sadly missing in Congress, and it goes deeper than mere "differences of opinion." It is all the more tragic because sound political advice could have prevented the break. Maybe the next six months will bring a reconciliation. The President will learn with more experience that, while a battle with Republicans in Congress and the alienation of millions of Republican voters throughout the country may bring applause from Democrats and "left wingers" who never vote the Republican ticket anyhow, such tactics will not win more seats for the Republican Party in Congress in 1954.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

You will learn something about the inwardness of the developing effort of the New Dealers to split and destroy the Republican party if you will read my running commentaries on the maneuvers of the New York Times and the Herald Tribune to shove President Eisenhower into a fight with the anti-Communist Republicans. If these papers can goad Ike into an open break with Senator Joe McCarthy, a strong element of Republicans will string with Joe and the party will be done.

The New York Times never was Republican. Its "conversion" in 1951-52 was so fishy that, after Ike had been put over in Chicago, it had to run a special editorial denying rumors that it was going to ditch Ike and go Democratic again.

The H-T, with its career of book-burning, its guilt in retaining Joe Barnes as editor long after he had become notorious for his Communist associations, is obliged to discredit anti-Communist exposes for its own survival. On the subject of book-burning, which it now deplores in hollow piety, I have a letter from the editor of its Sunday book-section blandly assuring me that it withheld approval of a book by John Roy Carlson, a sniveling liar, until the H-T had cleared him with the FBI. Then it acclaimed his paltry rubbish. John Edgar Hoover denied clearing this fraud, but the point is that the H-T was putting a book to a phoney loyalty test long before Joe McCarthy called attention to the presence of books by Red authors in our American libraries in Europe. And Joe didn't ask anyone to burn them, either. He just thought it was wrong to spend our taxes to enhance the renown and the fortunes of enemies of our country.

The Times and the H-T have taken up the defense of William P. Bundy, employed in the Central Intelligence Agency, who is married to a daughter of Dean Acheson. Bundy gave $400 to the defense of Acheson's friend, Alger Hiss.

They say the fact that he married Acheson's daughter does not imply guilt. Amen to that! But, if it should turn out that Bundy is still a friend of Hiss, how about that? What if he agrees with his father-in-law on foreign policy and Communists in government?

On that point, there is a statement by Bundy's brother, McGeorge Bundy, in his book, "The Pattern of Responsibility." This book is a lavish endorsement of Acheson's foreign policy. It is also an apology for Acheson's sympathy for Hiss.

McGeorge Bundy wrote: "I must end with a declaration of personal interest. Mr. Acheson and my father have been close friends across the party wall for many years. More recently, to their shared pride, there has been a family connection. I do not believe that friendship or indirect family connection is a bar to fair and honest defense, especially when that defense takes the form of allowing a man to speak for himself."

He meant that he stood up for Acheson's right to speak for himself, a right which nobody ever tried to deny. And he also meant that there was a strong family tie which certainly may be presumed in the case of his brother, William, too.

The real Republicans who voted for Ike because they couldn't vote for Taft, honestly hoped that they would get a Republican President who would clean out the State Department, the CIA and all other mysterious hiding places of those who couldn't turn their backs on the likes of Alger Hiss. But now Ike invokes secrecy for the CIA to make it impossible for McCarthy or anyone else to expose traitors or other unreliable persons in the CIA and its related bureaus. On the contrary, Ike is trying to make Joe seem traitorous in proposing to do this.

McGeorge Bundy demands that a man under suspicion be allowed to speak for himself. But McCarthy is trying to persuade his brother, William, to speak for himself and, for that, Ike reproves him.

Another significant line in McGeorge Bundy's book says that, as a student of foreign policy, he cites the New York Times with absolute confidence. Well, I too, cite the Times, but most often to

Bird Business

Wichita Falls, Tex. (AP) — Tiny birds are bringing financial independence to a wheelchair occupant. Bill Stalcup, 29, confined to a wheelchair nine years, raises budgerigars, a breed of small parakeets. He started last fall. The state vocational rehabilitation office designed an aviary in which Stalcup could maneuver his wheelchair. The agency gave him seven pairs of birds to get started. Stalcup already has sold about 100 birds. He hopes to sell 1,000 birds a year. At about $10 a bird, he figures on a tidy income.

Russia Uncensored

By Eddy Gilmore

Paris, July 24 (AP)—Who is running Soviet Russia today?

Is it really Georgi M. Malenkov? Could it be V. M. Molotov? Is Nikolai Bulganin the real man in charge? Is it possible that Nikita Khrushchev is manipulating things from the dark corners of the Kremlin? Or is it government by committee as the Communist party would have us believe—a committee composed of the party, the government and the Supreme Soviet?

Or, is it the army?

Frankly, I don't know and I doubt if anyone outside the Kremlin knows.

Narrows, Confuses Field

The dismissal of L. P. Beria—listed officially as Malenkov's No. 1 lieutenant—has narrowed the field. But it has also confused it.

A wise western diplomat, with many years' experience in Soviet affairs, is not completely convinced by the Beria story. He explains:

"This could be another grand piece of Russian make-believe and deception. They may be trying to confuse the west at this extremely important moment of our times. The Beria disgrace could be a huge hoax."

I do not hold with this diplomat—which, I'll be the first to admit, doesn't mean very much.

Strong—or Desperate

I believe Malenkov is in charge and has been in charge since Stalin was stricken. I believe he saw Beria stealing up behind him and out of the corner of his quick, Slavic eye, caught a glimmer of the knife in Beria's hand. That he felt strong enough, or desperate enough, to eliminate the high chieftain of the political police, with his principal henchmen.

If this is true then a lot more people are due for disgrace and denunciation in Russia. For Beria had a lot of friends and followers. He was a policeman and in any dictatorship there are a lot of policemen. They don't like to give up their authority lightly, or at all.

A marvel of contemporary Russian history has been how Malenkov was able to bring off the denunciation and firing of his right hand man, the fellow who nominated him to the post of premier. It took an unusual man, or men, to work the trick.

Rivalry Was Apparent

The rivalry between Malenkov and Beria was apparent to a number of western diplomats before I left Moscow. A certain western envoy used to refer to Malenkov in conversation as No. 1, to Beria as No. 2 and to Molotov as No. 3.

Many times I heard him say, "No. 2 is No. 1, and No. 1 is No. 2. And my arithmetic is not good enough to do addition and subtraction with Nos. 3, 4 and 5."

What do we know about Malenkov? Not much. I've seen him a lot of times. But I've never had such a good look at him as that Sunday afternoon in mid-March just after Stalin's death and burial. That was when the supreme Soviet met in the Kremlin and elected him chairman of the Council of Ministers, or premier, on Beria's endorsement.

I thought of Stalin's characteristic entrances onto the platform of the supreme Soviet's meeting place. I'd seen the old Georgian saunter onto the podium so many times. He would look neither to his right nor left, but out over the audience. No smile. No frown. Just that cold Stalin stare. Then, after many minutes, when you wondered if the applause was ever going to stop, he'd sit in one of the rear rows on the platform.

Liked the Space

Molotov, Malenkov or Beria would usually sit closest to him, but never in the seat immediately next to Stalin's. They always left a seat's space between the dictator and themselves. Stalin seemed to like it this way.

So I thought of Stalin when Malenkov walked onto the stage.

He looked out over the audience and seemed to give the deputies some recognition. The applause was loud. But Malenkov didn't applaud himself as Stalin used to applaud himself. He let the clapping go a little while and then halted it by sitting down. And he sat down with the rest of the boys.

The few foreign correspondents at that Kremlin session had good seats, and I came early enough to get one of the vacant front row chairs. A plainclothes policeman was sitting in the fourth seat, but next to his chair, mine was the best.

Malenkov is a fat man, but he's one of those fat men who move with a certain grace. He's light on his feet and he walks with a quick, sure stride. He probably would have made a good running guard.

Has Triple Chin

He has long black hair that he parts on one side. Dark intelligent eyes, if you can say eyes are intelligent. A triple chin and he wears the traditional party khaki jacket, long khaki trousers and usually black shoes.

He knows what to do with his hands and this doesn't include sticking them in his trouser pockets. His voice is firm and extremely clear. His delivery is that of a practiced orator. He looks at his audience when he speaks.

He seems sure of himself. He handled himself very well at this, his first public appearance after becoming premier. He paid not the slightest bit of attention to Beria, Molotov, Bulganin, Khrushchev or anyone else. He was in charge.

No Troublesome Issues

This was the speech in which he said there were no troublesome issues that could not be solved by peaceful means, including those with the United States.

Few foreigners have had conversations with Malenkov. I have two notations from men who sat beside him in Kremlin banquets.

Note No. 1: "He didn't talk very much and when I told him a joke he managed a faint smile. He seemed preoccupied. He volunteered no remark to me. He had a certain poise. However, an unpleasant character, I'd say."

No. 2: "He seemed interested in his food more than he was interested in me as a dinner partner. But talking through a translator, he did appear to be intelligent, though reticent. When I made some remark about the weather he said he was never very conscious of the weather. All in all, not the kind of a fellow with whom to take a long trip on a tandem bicycle."

At 52, he is one of the youngest of the Communist leaders. And, of course, he's playing for time. He is consolidating his position, or trying to. Does he have time enough? And strength and intelligence enough? I believe so. And I believe that Malenkov, more than any single man, is running Russia.

Michael Galgano Freed

New York, July 24 (AP)—Police have freed Michael Galgano, 39, in connection with the "ride" slaying of a truck driver on July 5, but they are holding his brother, Anthony Galgano, 38, in jail. The brothers had been held under $50,000 bail as material witnesses for investigation of the death of James V. Manzo. Yesterday, Asst. Dist. Atty. Francis X. O'Brien told Bronx County Judge Harry Stackell that Michael Galgano no longer was needed as a witness. Manzo's body, with three bullet holes in the head, was thrown from a car which witnesses identified as belonging to Anthony. Investigators said that Manzo, a married man, had been going out with the Galgano brothers' sister, Mrs. Rose Russano, 30, whose husband is in prison for robbery.

Russia Uncensored

By Eddy Gilmore

Paris, July 24 (AP)—Who is running Soviet Russia today?

Is it really Georgi M. Malenkov? Could it be V. M. Molotov? Is Nikolai Bulganin the real man in charge? Is it possible that Nikita Khrushchev is manipulating things from the dark corners of the Kremlin? Or is it government by committee as the Communist party would have us believe—a committee composed of the party, the government and the Supreme Soviet?

Or, is it the army?

Frankly, I don't know and I doubt if anyone outside the Kremlin knows.

Narrows, Confuses Field

The dismissal of L. P. Beria—listed officially as Malenkov's No. 1 lieutenant—has narrowed the field. But it has also confused it.

A wise western diplomat, with many years' experience in Soviet affairs, is not completely convinced by the Beria story. He explains:

"This could be another grand piece of Russian make-believe and deception. They may be trying to confuse the west at this extremely important moment of our times. The Beria disgrace could be a huge hoax."

I do not hold with this diplomat—which, I'll be the first to admit, doesn't mean very much.

Strong—or Desperate

I believe Malenkov is in charge and has been in charge since Stalin was stricken. I believe he saw Beria stealing up behind him and out of the corner of his quick, Slavic eye, caught a glimmer of the knife in Beria's hand. That he felt strong enough, or desperate enough, to eliminate the high chieftain of the political police, with his principal henchmen.

If this is true then a lot more people are due for disgrace and denunciation in Russia. For Beria had a lot of friends and followers. He was a policeman and in any dictatorship there are a lot of policemen. They don't like to give up their authority lightly, or at all.

A marvel of contemporary Russian history has been how Malenkov was able to bring off the denunciation and firing of his right hand man, the fellow who nominated him to the post of premier. It took an unusual man, or men, to work the trick.

Rivalry Was Apparent

The rivalry between Malenkov and Beria was apparent to a number of western diplomats before I left Moscow. A certain western envoy used to refer to Malenkov in conversation as No. 1, to Beria as No. 2 and to Molotov as No. 3.

Many times I heard him say, "No. 2 is No. 1, and No. 1 is No. 2. And my arithmetic is not good enough to do addition and subtraction with Nos. 3, 4 and 5."

What do we know about Malenkov? Not much. I've seen him a lot of times. But I've never had such a good look at him as that Sunday afternoon in mid-March just after Stalin's death and burial. That was when the supreme Soviet met in the Kremlin and elected him chairman of the Council of Ministers, or premier, on Beria's endorsement.

I thought of Stalin's characteristic entrances onto the platform of the supreme Soviet's meeting place. I'd seen the old Georgian saunter onto the podium so many times. He would look neither to his right nor left, but out over the audience. No smile. No frown. Just that cold Stalin stare. Then, after many minutes, when you wondered if the applause was ever going to stop, he'd sit in one of the rear rows on the platform.

Liked the Space

Molotov, Malenkov or Beria would usually sit closest to him, but never in the seat immediately next to Stalin's. They always left a seat's space between the dictator and themselves. Stalin seemed to like it this way.

So I thought of Stalin when Malenkov walked onto the stage.

He looked out over the audience and seemed to give the deputies some recognition. The applause was loud. But Malenkov didn't applaud himself as Stalin used to applaud himself. He let the clapping go a little while and then halted it by sitting down. And he sat down with the rest of the boys.

The few foreign correspondents at that Kremlin session had good seats, and I came early enough to get one of the vacant front row chairs. A plainclothes policeman was sitting in the fourth seat, but next to his chair, mine was the best.

Malenkov is a fat man, but he's one of those fat men who move with a certain grace. He's light on his feet and he walks with a quick, sure stride. He probably would have made a good running guard.

Has Triple Chin

He has long black hair that he parts on one side. Dark intelligent eyes, if you can say eyes are intelligent. A triple chin and he wears the traditional party khaki jacket, long khaki trousers and usually black shoes.

He knows what to do with his hands and this doesn't include sticking them in his trouser pockets. His voice is firm and extremely clear. His delivery is that of a practiced orator. He looks at his audience when he speaks.

He seems sure of himself. He handled himself very well at this, his first public appearance after becoming premier. He paid not the slightest bit of attention to Beria, Molotov, Bulganin, Khrushchev or anyone else. He was in charge.

No Troublesome Issues

This was the speech in which he said there were no troublesome issues that could not be solved by peaceful means, including those with the United States.

Few foreigners have had conversations with Malenkov. I have two notations from men who sat beside him in Kremlin banquets.

Note No. 1: "He didn't talk very much and when I told him a joke he managed a faint smile. He seemed preoccupied. He volunteered no remark to me. He had a certain poise. However, an unpleasant character, I'd say."

No. 2: "He seemed interested in his food more than he was interested in me as a dinner partner. But talking through a translator, he did appear to be intelligent, though reticent. When I made some remark about the weather he said he was never very conscious of the weather. All in all, not the kind of a fellow with whom to take a long trip on a tandem bicycle."

At 52, he is one of the youngest of the Communist leaders. And, of course, he's playing for time. He is consolidating his position, or trying to. Does he have time enough? And strength and intelligence enough? I believe so. And I believe that Malenkov, more than any single man, is running Russia.

"So we traded," the ex-governor said, "with Fred giving me his speech and me giving him my speech. You've just heard Fred deliver my speech, but the one Fred wrote wasn't much—so I won't bother to give it."

And he sat down to tremendous laughter.

Test Yourself In Defense Play

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

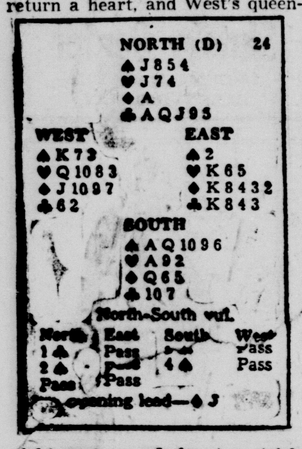

When the National Championships begin Aug. 1 in St. Louis, William Joseph and W. W. Jackson will probably be on hand to defend their Master Pair Championship.

In today's hand we see this pair of champions defeating a game contract by finding the only possible defense. Just for the fun of it, and to test yourself against the winners of the Masters Pairs, see if you can spot the correct defense before reading this entire article.

West opened the jack of diamonds, and dummy won with the ace. Declarer led the eight of spades from dummy and let it ride for a finesse. Bill Joseph, playing the West hand, won with the king of spades. He then came up with the only play that would defeat the contract. Stop now, and see if you can spot this play for yourself.

Joseph saw that the defense needed two heart tricks to defeat the contract. It was obviously necessary to lead a heart at once. It was vital, however, to lead the correct heart.

After some thought, Joseph returned the ten of hearts. Dummy covered with the jack, East put up the king, and South won with the ace. When East got the lead with the king of clubs, he could return a heart, and West's queenight were good for two tricks over South's nine-deuce of hearts.

Only leading the ten of hearts will do the trick. If West instead leads a low heart, dummy plays low, and East's king is trapped. If West leads the queen of hearts to begin that suit, South wins with the ace and can afford to lose the club finesse to East. If East then leads hearts, dummy's jack will win the third round of the suit.

A Possible Link

The Hoatzin bird that lives along the rivers of Venezuela, is regarded by scientists as a possible link between birds and reptiles, because, when young, it has hooks on its wings, enabling it to climb trees.

Check Presented by VFW Commander

Hubert A. Richter, local attorney and commander of Joyce-Schirick Post 1368, VFW, hands a check for $25 to Mrs. George V. D. Hutton, chairman of the Chambers Deed committee. The check will be used to purchase the historic document from the New York State Historical Association, Cooperstown, so that it may be on permanent display in the Senate House Museum. About $300 is still needed. Mrs. Hutton thanked the VFW for their generous gift, "typical of their interest in community affairs and projects." BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., July 23—There is no panacea for the labor problem. It began when one man started to work for another. It will continue so long as there is an employer-employe relationship. When I was assistant secretary of labor I was asked to speak on labor problems before a Washington audience. On my way to the appointment I stopped in William B. Wilson's office and asked for some suggestions. He replied: "You might begin by telling them that 100 years from tonight someone will be speaking on the same subject on the same spot."

Profit sharing plans grow with prosperity and decline in periods of depression. Most profit sharing plans are for wages only—are not dependent on the productivity of the workers, but dependent mainly an the ability and generosity of the management. The business boom during and following the first World War brought the profit sharing idea to the notice of the general public. There are numerous profit sharing plans in operation in the United States. Many have prospered because we have had boom business, with increasing profits. The real test will come when earnings decline and when there will be no profits.

The recent large earnings of industry have stimulated labor union leaders to ask and re-ask for increased wages. Seven rounds have been granted and we are now facing a request for an eighth round. This demand will meet with stronger resistance than previous demands because business is looking ahead to readjustment and lower profits. After all, profit sharing depends on profits—no profits, no profit sharing. Labor union leaders are not asking for profit sharing, but for annual wages and fringe benefits. They realize that fundamentally profits depend on management and business conditions. A business may make a million dollars in one year and fail the next year!

A Managerial Problem

How a business enterprise is managed determines its success or failure. The management must pay the current rate of wages. If it is necessary to borrow money, to increase the plant's facilities so that more labor can be employed, management must pay the current rate of interest on outstanding bonds or else go broke. Management must meet stiff competition for goods produced and is, therefore, restricted as to what is received for commodities produced. Furthermore, a manager must be a business forecaster, expanding facilities when a period of good business is coming, but trimming his sails when a period of readjustment is in the offing. On top of all this, his company must pay heavy taxes. After all these obligations are met, if there is anything left that is profits. The raw material purchaser is a great factor in determining profits.

It, therefore, is seen that profit sharing rewards depend little upon the wageworkers. Such plans are most successful in large business enterprises that are well-established and managed, especially if producing a patented product having a continual demand in war or peace. Profit sharing is often hard on small business concerns, because they do not have the reserves to carry them through readjustments or to constantly advertise. Profit sharing is a one-way street. It may act as a wage-sedative during periods of prosperity and good earnings, but as a source of trouble if a company suffers a loss. Labor is willing to share profits; but is not willing to share losses.

Speaking From Experience

I gave away over one million dollars to my employes from 1913 to 1925. There is no doubt but what the money passed out did a lot of good to the recipients, I am glad that we tried the experiment and gave it a thorough test. Profit sharing was only a part of the program—we really tried industrial democracy. Both came to an unfortunate ending. Since then better plans have been tried by others.

Why We Say--

. . . Wig robbing

In 19th century London it was the practice of certain thieves to prey upon wig-wearing victims by pulling the wigs (worn by many rich people) over their eyes to take advantage of them by stealing their purses. Figuratively, the wig was called the wool, giving rise to this expression.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

BY HAL BOYLE

New York, (AP)—Do you worry yourself sick trying to reach a final solution to your problems?

Well, you can't. So why not save your time, health and strength by quit trying to?

Most people in this world fret themselves into misery because they think there is a complete answer to every problem. There isn't. The nature of problems in this world is that they breed each other. You exit from one problem only to find yourself at the entrance of another.

My definition of a grownup is a human being who deals with problems as he does with cutting grass. Just as he doesn't foam at the mouth and wildly grab his lawnmower when the first spear of green rears up in his front yard in the spring, neither does he get too excited about the onset of other problems.

Few Worth Meeting

Actually, few problems that wreck people's nerves are worth meeting more than halfway. And many others cannot be completely solved, because they merge into another problem.

For example:

When you are a child you yearn for the time when you will be big enough to whip the bully down the street. But later in life he comes to you in need—and how can you spare the dough he wants to borrow?

In youth a fellow could have such a good time if he only could afford to. By the time he can afford to he isn't sure what a good time is.

A girl reconciles herself to marrying a man she doesn't love on the grounds that, after all, he does have character. Then she discovers he doesn't really have character. He just is a character.

A boy marries a girl only to escape his silent loneliness—and finds out he is still lonely, but with sound effects.

A young couple decide to have children who will provide for them in their old age, and end up by baby sitting their grandchildren—and paying the milk bill, too.

Value Starts to Fall

You figure it is silly to spend all your paycheck. But as soon as you get a bank account, the value of money starts to fall.

At 25 you can't afford the cost of a haircut. At 50 any honest barber shouldn't charge more than half-price to trim the hair you have left.

If you have a kid, the neighbor on one side of you says you are ruining the boy through lack of discipline. But if you spank him, the neighbor on the other side calls the cops.

You give up smoking because the doctor tells you it can be bad for your heart. Then you eat so much you gain 25 pounds, and the same doctor says that's bad for your heart, too.

So you starve yourself slim, and this time the doctor says you got low blood pressure. You brood and brood, and when you come back the doctor says, "now you got high blood pressure." Can you win? Nope. You're so nervous you start smoking again.

You take up color photography to relax. Then you find that only a man of inherited wealth can support both a wife and a stable of cameras.

Nothing but Blues

Some older men then turn to wine, women and song. But the wine annoys their liver, any woman they like only thinks them annoying, and what does that leave them to sing but the blues?

Or take the ambitious man or woman. At 30 they are too disturbed because they aren't sure where they are going. At 65 they are even more disturbed because they have found out.

So it goes, from problem to problem. Yet there is only one real problem in life—and that's how to get the most out of it.

The only sensible rule for dealing with problems along the way is to think them through—and never solve a small one by trading it for a bigger one. It is foolish to have to yearn at the end because you have wasted your years by measuring your worries from a tumbler and your joys from an eyedropper.

Test Yourself In Defense Play

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

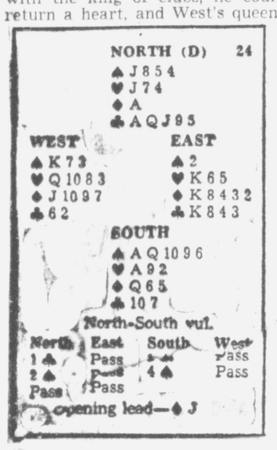

When the National Championships begin Aug. 1 in St. Louis, William Joseph and W. W. Jackson will probably be on hand to defend their Master Pair Championship.

In today's hand we see this pair of champions defeating a game contract by finding the only possible defense. Just for the fun of it, and to test yourself against the winners of the Masters Pairs, see if you can spot the correct defense before reading this entire article.

West opened the jack of diamonds, and dummy won with the ace. Declarer led the eight of spades from dummy and let it ride for a finesse. Bill Joseph, playing the West hand, won with the king of spades. He then came up with the only play that would defeat the contract. Stop now, and see if you can spot this play for yourself.

Joseph saw that the defense needed two heart tricks to defeat the contract. It was obviously necessary to lead a heart at once. It was vital, however, to lead the correct heart.

After some thought, Joseph returned the ten of hearts. Dummy covered with the jack, East put up the king, and South won with the ace. When East got the lead with the king of clubs, he could return a heart, and West's queen-eight were good for two tricks over South's nine-deuce of hearts.

Only leading the ten of hearts will do the trick. If West instead leads a low heart, dummy plays low, and East's king is trapped. If West leads the queen of hearts to begin that suit, South wins with the ace and can afford to lose the club finesse to East. If East then leads hearts, dummy's jack will win the third round of the suit.

A Possible Link

The Hoatzin bird that lives along the rivers of Venezuela, is regarded by scientists as a possible link between birds and reptiles, because, when young, it has hooks on its wings, enabling it to climb trees.

Check Presented by VFW Commander

Hubert A. Richter, local attorney and commander of Joyce-Schirick Post 1368, VFW, hands a check for $25 to Mrs. George V. D. Hutton, chairman of the Chambers Deed committee. The check will be used to purchase the historic document from the New York State Historical Association, Cooperstown, so that it may be on permanent display in the Senate House Museum. About $300 is still needed. Mrs. Hutton thanked the VFW for their generous gift, "typical of their interest in community affairs and projects." Albert Kurdt, secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, is looking on. (Lane Photo)

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., July 23—There is no panacea for the labor problem. It began when one man started to work for another. It will continue so long as there is an employer-employe relationship. When I was assistant secretary of labor I was asked to speak on labor problems before a Washington audience. On my way to the appointment I stopped in William B. Wilson's office and asked for some suggestions. He replied: "You might begin by telling them that 100 years from tonight someone will be speaking on the same subject on the same spot."

Profit sharing plans grow with prosperity and decline in periods of depression. Most profit sharing plans are for wages only—are not dependent on the productivity of the workers, but dependent mainly an the ability and generosity of the management. The business boom during and following the first World War brought the profit sharing idea to the notice of the general public. There are numerous profit sharing plans in operation in the United States. Many have prospered because we have had boom business, with increasing profits. The real test will come when earnings decline and when there will be no profits.

The recent large earnings of industry have stimulated labor union leaders to ask and re-ask for increased wages. Seven rounds have been granted and we are now facing a request for an eighth round. This demand will meet with stronger resistance than previous demands because business is looking ahead to readjustment and lower profits. After all, profit sharing depends on profits—no profits, no profit sharing. Labor union leaders are not asking for profit sharing, but for annual wages and fringe benefits. They realize that fundamentally profits depend on management and business conditions. A business may make a million dollars in one year and fail the next year!

A Managerial Problem

How a business enterprise is managed determines its success or failure. The management must pay the current rate of wages. If it is necessary to borrow money, to increase the plant's facilities so that more labor can be employed, management must pay the current rate of interest on outstanding bonds or else go broke. Management must meet stiff competition for goods produced and is, therefore, restricted as to what is received for commodities produced. Furthermore, a manager must be a business forecaster, expanding facilities when a period of good business is coming, but trimming his sails when a period of readjustment is in the offing. On top of all this, his company must pay heavy taxes. After all these obligations are met, if there is anything left that is profits. The raw material purchaser is a great factor in determining profits.

It, therefore, is seen that profit sharing rewards depend little upon the wageworkers. Such plans are most successful in large business enterprises that are well-established and managed, especially if producing a patented product having a continual demand in war or peace. Profit sharing is often hard on small business concerns, because they do not have the reserves to carry them through readjustments or to constantly advertise. Profit sharing is a one-way street. It may act as a wage-sedative during periods of prosperity and good earnings, but as a source of trouble if a company suffers a loss. Labor is willing to share profits; but is not willing to share losses.

Lady Business Executive Advises Secretaries With Business Ambition

By DORTHOY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Girls who expect to marry the boss aren't likely to progress rapidly either in business or office romance, says a girl who might be called business's No. 1 secretary.

She is blonde, attractive Anna F. Woessner, just elected secretary of P. Lorillard Co., first woman officer in the history of the 193-year-old tobacco firm. This blue-eyed ex-Wave, daughter of a newspaper press mechanic, advanced in six years from a routine secretarial job to the top brass post. Says she;

"The story of the secretary who marries the boss is confined mostly to movies and magazines, I'm afraid. My experience has been that most bosses are too busy to want any romantic distractions in the office, and besides are old enough to be our fathers."

10 Points to Remember

Anna, who is 30 and looks like a posed college girl, has some advice for secretaries who have big business ambitions:

1. Realize that an office is a place of business and not a social club or matrimonial agency.

2. Try to understand the duties and problems of your boss, and take as much detail as possible off his shoulders.

3. Accept the fact that you have been hired for your efficiency and not because of your blue eyes or that new perfume.

4. Make yourself as unobtrusive as possible while in the office and try to anticipate the wishes of the boss. Have the file on whoosis ready before he asks for it, make his luncheon reservation before he reminds you, have the most important letters on top of his pile of mail.

5. Keep yourself neat and well groomed at all times, but avoid heavy perfumes, gaudy jewelry and provocative necklines. There's a time and place for everything, and the usual high pressure office is not the place for secretarial allure.

6. Familiarize yourself with the business procedures, policies and techniques of your firm. When the boss is away, you may have to pinch hit for him.

Don't Be Afraid to Say Sir

7. Don't be too proud to show the proper respect for your boss and his associates. Don't be afraid to say "sir."

8. Don't try to run your boss' affairs unless he asks you to. Some men don't want to be reminded to get a haircut or send flowers to their wives. The secretary who attempts to run the private life of her boss can be just as annoying as the one who dodges responsibility.

9. Take an interest in the business transacted by the company. You'll find big business can be as fascinating as a movie thriller, once you begin to grasp its problems.

10. Keep your personal grievances to yourself. Even if you have just had a fight with your best beau, overdrawn your checking account and snagged your last pair of nylons, don't pour your troubles out to the boss. He doesn't care.

Firms Are Not Prejudiced

Anna also disproves the widely held belief that big business firms are prejudiced against advancing women to top executive jobs. Says she:

"I've advanced faster here than anybody I know. It just doesn't seem real. But I'm very grateful."

At present studying nights at Seton Hall for a law degree, Anna still finds time for movies, the theatre and the ballet, hopes to get married "when the right man comes along," and adds:

"If he's the right man he won't mind if I continue at my job—and he'll have to know how to cook."

First of the convention's business sessions began at the hotel this morning with the call to order by C. Peter Miller, convention chairman, who then turned the gavel over to the state president, Leigh D. Pickup of Cattaraugus.

Early arrivals Thursday night attended a session devoted to memorial services and introductions. Greetings were extended the group by Postmaster William R. Kraft of Kingston, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, and Mrs. James George, president of the Ulster County Ladies' Auxiliary. The invocation was given by the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church.

Also introduced was Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

The memorial services were in charge of Mrs. Marsh Thornton, chairman of the Ladies Auxiliary executive committee.

This morning's session included roll call, report of credential committee, seating of delegates, and reports of officers. Addresses were scheduled to be given by Paul Morton of Freeport, Ohio, national treasurer, and Mrs. Ross T. Wright, chairman of the executive committee of the National Ladies Auxiliary.

Nominations of delegates to the national convention were scheduled to be made today.

The convention will remain in session through Saturday evening. The annual banquet will be held tonight at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 6:30 o'clock.

Dividend Declared

The Board of Directors of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, at its monthly meeting held at its South road office, Poughkeepsie, today declared a dividend of $1.12½ per share on its 4½ per cent cumulative preferred stock; $1.18¾ per share on its 4.75 per cent cumulative preferred stock; and $1.31¼ per share on its 5.25 per cent cumulative preferred stock, 1951 series; payable October 1 to holders of record on September 10.

The pawnshop was as familiar in China two or three thousand years ago as it is in the west today.

Senators Differ on Bill To Admit 240,000

Washington, July 24 (AP)—Nine senators said in a formal report today that passage of a special refugee immigration bill President Eisenhower has asked would further "the basic foreign policy objective of strengthening the free world."

Six others, in a minority report from the Senate Judiciary Committee, declared the proposal to admit 240,000 immigrants involved unwarranted security risks.

In the House, meanwhile, Republican leaders set the signals to give the measure a fast track next week, following its approval, 17-12, after weeks of delay, by the Judiciary Committee.

GOP Leader Halleck of Indiana said he would bring it to the floor Monday if the committee could dispose of necessary preliminaries in time. Rep. Graham (R-Pa.), acting chairman of the committee, said he thought Wednesday was more likely.

The President's lieutenants expressed confidence the House would approve the measure, which is on the list of "must" legislation to be disposed of before Congress adjourns.

Senate and House versions of the measure differ. The House committee okayed admission of the full 240,000 immigrants, but spread over three years instead of the two Eisenhower originally asked. The Senate bill would authorize 220,000 in three years.

The armadillo moved to Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi from Latin America.

HAVING TO IGNORE A HINT

A reader this morning explains: "Last week I received a letter from a relative living in a distant city, saying that she and her husband were coming to this city to spend their vacation. She has hinted very broadly that they would like to stay at our house. (They know we have plenty of room). However, I don't wish to have them stay here and would prefer that they go to a hotel. I will, of course, invite them to meals occasionally, but frankly, I don't feel up to having people stay here. It means so much extra work for me. Will you please tell me how I can handle this situation tactfully?"

Tell them that you are so glad that they are coming to town and that you hope to see a lot of them. They certainly can't expect to stay with you unless you invite them.

Parents for Dinner

Dear Mrs. Post: When I have my mother and father to dinner and my husband's mother and father to dinner at the same time, who should be served first, my mother or my husband's mother?

Answer: If there is a difference in their age, the older one should be served first. If no difference, one would be served one course first, and the next course would be served first to the other.

Dividing Presents

Dear Mrs. Post: Three months ago my son was married and unfortunately it did not work out and the marriage is in the process of being annulled. They received many beautiful wedding presents, which she has. Don't you think, Mrs. Post, that my son is entitled to the presents sent from his friends and relatives? Also, what about the checks that they received?

Answer: Although presents are sent to the bride, the presents from his relatives might justly be given to him but not those from mutual friends and certainly not from any of hers.

Soup in Cups

Dear Mrs. Post: On occasion, soup is served in cups that have no handles just as tea is served in a Chinese restaurant. May one pick up the cup or correctly is a spoon supposed to be used to the last drop.

Answer: You use the spoon and don't pick up the cup unless it has handles.

Lady Business Executive Advises Secretaries With Business Ambition

By DORTHOY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Girls who expect to marry the boss aren't likely to progress rapidly either in business or office romance, says a girl who might be called business's No. 1 secretary.

She is blonde, attractive Anna F. Woessner, just elected secretary of P. Lorillard Co., first woman officer in the history of the 193-year-old tobacco firm. This blue-eyed ex-Wave, daughter of a newspaper press mechanic, advanced in six years from a routine secretarial job to the top brass post. Says she;

"The story of the secretary who marries the boss is confined mostly to movies and magazines, I'm afraid. My experience has been that most bosses are too busy to want any romantic distractions in the office, and besides are old enough to be our fathers."

10 Points to Remember

Anna, who is 30 and looks like a posed college girl, has some advice for secretaries who have big business ambitions:

1. Realize that an office is a place of business and not a social club or matrimonial agency.

2. Try to understand the duties and problems of your boss, and take as much detail as possible off his shoulders.

3. Accept the fact that you have been hired for your efficiency and not because of your blue eyes or that new perfume.

4. Make yourself as unobtrusive as possible while in the office and try to anticipate the wishes of the boss. Have the file on whoosis ready before he asks for it, make his luncheon reservation before he reminds you, have the most important letters on top of his pile of mail.

5. Keep yourself neat and well groomed at all times, but avoid heavy perfumes, gaudy jewelry and provocative necklines. There's a time and place for everything, and the usual high pressure office is not the place for secretarial allure.

6. Familiarize yourself with the business procedures, policies and techniques of your firm. When the boss is away, you may have to pinch hit for him.

Don't Be Afraid to Say Sir

7. Don't be too proud to show the proper respect for your boss and his associates. Don't be afraid to say "sir."

8. Don't try to run your boss' affairs unless he asks you to. Some men don't want to be reminded to get a haircut or send flowers to their wives. The secretary who attempts to run the private life of her boss can be just as annoying as the one who dodges responsibility.

9. Take an interest in the business transacted by the company. You'll find big business can be as fascinating as a movie thriller, once you begin to grasp its problems.

10. Keep your personal grievances to yourself. Even if you have just had a fight with your best beau, overdrawn your checking account and snagged your last pair of nylons, don't pour your troubles out to the boss. He doesn't care.

Firms Are Not Prejudiced

Anna also disproves the widely held belief that big business firms are prejudiced against advancing women to top executive jobs. Says she:

"I've advanced faster here than anybody I know. It just doesn't seem real. But I'm very grateful."

At present studying nights at Seton Hall for a law degree, Anna still finds time for movies, the theatre and the ballet, hopes to get married "when the right man comes along," and adds:

"If he's the right man he won't mind if I continue at my job—and he'll have to know how to cook."

Early arrivals Thursday night attended a session devoted to memorial services and introductions. Greetings were extended the group by Postmaster William R. Kraft of Kingston, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, and Mrs. James George, president of the Ulster County Ladies' Auxiliary. The invocation was given by the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church.

This morning's session included roll call, report of credential committee, seating of delegates, and reports of officers. Addresses were scheduled to be given by Paul Morton of Freeport, Ohio, national treasurer, and Mrs. Ross T. Wright, chairman of the executive committee of the National Ladies Auxiliary.

Nominations of delegates to the national convention were scheduled to be made today.

The convention will remain in session through Saturday evening. The annual banquet will be held tonight at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 6:30 o'clock.

Senators Differ on Bill To Admit 240,000

Washington, July 24 (AP)—Nine senators said in a formal report today that passage of a special refugee immigration bill President Eisenhower has asked would further "the basic foreign policy objective of strengthening the free world."

Six others, in a minority report from the Senate Judiciary Committee, declared the proposal to admit 240,000 immigrants involved unwarranted security risks.

In the House, meanwhile, Republican leaders set the signals to give the measure a fast track next week, following its approval, 17-12, after weeks of delay, by the Judiciary Committee.

GOP Leader Halleck of Indiana said he would bring it to the floor Monday if the committee could dispose of necessary preliminaries in time. Rep. Graham (R-Pa.), acting chairman of the committee, said he thought Wednesday was more likely.

The President's lieutenants expressed confidence the House would approve the measure, which is on the list of "must" legislation to be disposed of before Congress adjourns.

Senate and House versions of the measure differ. The House committee okayed admission of the full 240,000 immigrants, but spread over three years instead of the two Eisenhower originally asked. The Senate bill would authorize 220,000 in three years.

The armadillo moved to Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi from Latin America.

HAVING TO IGNORE A HINT

A reader this morning explains: "Last week I received a letter from a relative living in a distant city, saying that she and her husband were coming to this city to spend their vacation. She has hinted very broadly that they would like to stay at our house. (They know we have plenty of room). However, I don't wish to have them stay here and would prefer that they go to a hotel. I will, of course, invite them to meals occasionally, but frankly, I don't feel up to having people stay here. It means so much extra work for me. Will you please tell me how I can handle this situation tactfully?"

Tell them that you are so glad that they are coming to town and that you hope to see a lot of them. They certainly can't expect to stay with you unless you invite them.

Prices Might Get Level Again, but Costs Are Rising

By SAM DAWSON

New York, July 24 (AP)—The cost of eating is up again. The cost of living is likely to push still higher this month and next. The purchasing power of the dollar—which rallied for a time—is slipping again.

The government's official measuring stick for all this—the consumer price index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics—set a record high in mid-June, pushing through the previous record high set a year ago and touched again at election time.

The index measures what was happening to your pocketbook six weeks ago. Since then meat prices have gone up. The price of gasoline has been raised most places. Some basic industrial prices have gone up, too—steel and various chemicals.

Steel Costs to Reflect

True, the housewife doesn't run out to the store to buy a pound of steel. But she does buy things made of steel and processed by chemicals. And the cost of making these things will be rising.

Rents continue to rise here and there across the nation. Another jump may be in store for some folk living in areas still under federal rent controls, which are scheduled to be lifted shortly.

Getting to and from work is becoming more expensive for lots of folk. Transit fares have risen in a number of cities, and are due to rise in others.

Services of all kinds—hospital and doctor bills, fuel and power—continue under the pressure of rising costs. Mailing letters may become more expensive.

Likely to Slip Back

But there is a brighter side to all this, if you look for it. This is the time of year that commodity prices tend to rise. Many things going up now are likely to slip back in a few months.

Weather plays a particularly big role right now. Drouth, for example, has hurt the cotton crop in some important growing areas. This has boosted the price of cotton. The same drouth has sent many cattle prematurely to market, lowering prices of beef for a time.

Now government loans to distressed ranchers has removed some of this pressure to sell cattle, and prices rebounded for a time at the stockyards. In other places good rains boosted the outlook for a bumper corn crop, weakening these prices.

The government's cost of living index, moreover, doesn't necessarily mirror your own case too accurately. The index reflects the list prices paid for items at the store and for rent and services. Smart shoppers can do a lot better than that.

Housewives who have been shopping the sales—and stores are putting on some very attractive ones this month—have been providing for their families with much less wear and tear on the pocketbook than the government's official samplers of list prices report.

Most housewives shy away from a particular food when its price gets out of line—the government's price samplers don't.

Many shoppers report they can make good deals with merchants for many gadgets where inventories are a little sticky just now. Car dealers, for example, complain that customers are putting on the heat for higher trade-in allowances and for discounts on the prices of accessories and extras.

The government's index, however, reflects the going-price trend, and that trend right now is up. You have to sweeten a dollar with an extra 15 cents now if you expect it to do the job for you in the stores that it did four years ago.

The dollar's purchasing power has been much more stable this year than in 1951 or 1952. It's slipping a little right now. But there's hope its health will improve by the end of the year.

Horticultural Tour Is Set for Canada

The annual summer meeting and tour of the New York State Horticultural Society will be held August 12 at 10 a. m. at the Ontario Horticultural Experiment Station at Vineland, Ontario, it has been announced.

Farmers wishing to make reservations for the annual tour are requested to contact D. M. Dalrymple, secretary, Lakeport.

Philadelphia, July 24 (AP)—Brother Paul A. Boland, S.J., purchasing agent at St. Joseph's College (Philadelphia) for 14 years, died Wednesday at Fitzgerald-Mercy Hospital. He was 45. A member of the Society of Jesus for 29 years, he was in charge of the college dining room. A native of Philadelphia, he entered the Jesuit order in 1924 at Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Jamboree Notes

By RICHARD CONSTANT

July 20, 1953

In the morning most of the Rip Van Winkle Scouts went trading. Other than that there were no other activities.

Immediately after lunch there was a jet air show put on for the Jamboree by the Navy air force. The planes were the latest fighters built for combat and the pilots were atll Korean veterans. Some of the planes were Banshees, Panthers, Cougars and a Cutlass. Besides these there were a number of Marine helicopters and two Naval Reserve blimps.

After the air show there was a Hollywood review in which a number of well-known actors and actresses took part. Among these was Jerry Colona, Lash La Rue, the Belle Sisters, Dorothy Lamour and many others. The show was enjoyed by all and they cannot wait to see the ones to come.

Wounded Koreans Are Moved Farther South

Seoul, July 24 (AP)—The South Korean government today moved 250 South Korean sick and wounded prisoners of war returned from North Korea three months ago from Seoul to "somewhere south."

Vice Minister of Defense Kim Il Whan said these men had recovered from their illness while in an army hospital in Seoul, and that they were moved south for further recuperation. Kim did not name the place.

Kim indicated they might go through another screening to check possible Communist leanings before they are allowed to go home.

Bookies Have Poor Year in Massachusetts

Boston, July 24 (AP)—Massachusetts bookies had a poor year, indeed, based on the taxes they paid the federal government. Internal Revenue Director Thomas Scanlon said last night the 226 dutifully-registered Massachusetts bookies paid only $36,879 in excess taxes in the fiscal year ended last June 30.

The excise tax is 10 per cent of the gross take. That would put average gross receipts at $1,630 per bookie, as the average tax paid was $163.

Charged With Stabbings

Istanbul, Turkey, July 24 (AP)—Police today charged a 17-year-old Turkish boy with the fatal stabbings of his father, stepmother, and five brothers and sisters. The brothers and sisters ranged from 2 to 8 years. The family slaughter occurred at Acipayam, a farming village in southwest Turkey. Police said it started with a quarrel between the youth and his father.

Tuey Is Accepted For Army Course; Enlists Sept. 28

John R. Tuey of 39 Garden street has been accepted to attend the 12-week course in machine accounting at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, Sergeant First Class Clarence Carney of the Poughkeepsie recruiting office said today.

Sgt. Carney pointed out that Tuey will enlist in the army on Sept. 28 for three years and added that he will probably take his basic training at Fort Dix, N. J.

The machine accounting course offered by the army deals with IBM machines, Sgt. Carney said, and offers a great opportunity to young high school graduates.

"There are many other specialized courses now being offered by the army and all high school graduates are requested to take advantage of them," the recruiting sergeant said.

Interested young men may obtain further details by contacting Sgt. Carney at the Poughkeepsie army recruiting office.

The industrial area includes Ulster, Dutchess and Orange counties.

The total permits issued in 1953 showed a drop of 48 from the same period in 1952 when 295 permits were issued valued at $2,877,600.

The total valuation for this year includes approximately $1,448,600 for additions, alterations and repairs to existing buildings, and $1,092,200 for new non-residential structures.

The report said that 7,986 new private housing units were authorized throughout the state in June 1953 as against 7,442 in June 1952.

Polio Cases Reach 62 Along Two-State Border

Bristol, Va.-Tenn., July 24 (AP)—Both the gamma globulin and the lollipops finally gave out last night, but health authorities hoped they'd struck a blow toward checking a polio epidemic in this Virginia-Tennessee border area with the inoculation of 18,223 children in two days.

Prices Might Get Level Again, but Costs Are Rising

By SAM DAWSON

New York, July 24 (AP)—The cost of eating is up again. The cost of living is likely to push still higher this month and next. The purchasing power of the dollar—which rallied for a time—is slipping again.

The government's official measuring stick for all this—the consumer price index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics—set a record high in mid-June, pushing through the previous record high set a year ago and touched again at election time.

The index measures what was happening to your pocketbook six weeks ago. Since then meat prices have gone up. The price of gasoline has been raised most places. Some basic industrial prices have gone up, too—steel and various chemicals.

Steel Costs to Reflect

True, the housewife doesn't run out to the store to buy a pound of steel. But she does buy things made of steel and processed by chemicals. And the cost of making these things will be rising.

Rents continue to rise here and there across the nation. Another jump may be in store for some folk living in areas still under federal rent controls, which are scheduled to be lifted shortly.

Getting to and from work is becoming more expensive for lots of folk. Transit fares have risen in a number of cities, and are due to rise in others.

Services of all kinds—hospital and doctor bills, fuel and power—continue under the pressure of rising costs. Mailing letters may become more expensive.

Likely to Slip Back

But there is a brighter side to all this, if you look for it. This is the time of year that commodity prices tend to rise. Many things going up now are likely to slip back in a few months.

Weather plays a particularly big role right now. Drouth, for example, has hurt the cotton crop in some important growing areas. This has boosted the price of cotton. The same drouth has sent many cattle prematurely to market, lowering prices of beef for a time.

Now government loans to distressed ranchers has removed some of this pressure to sell cattle, and prices rebounded for a time at the stockyards. In other places good rains boosted the outlook for a bumper corn crop, weakening these prices.

The government's cost of living index, moreover, doesn't necessarily mirror your own case too accurately. The index reflects the list prices paid for items at the store and for rent and services. Smart shoppers can do a lot better than that.

Housewives who have been shopping the sales—and stores are putting on some very attractive ones this month—have been providing for their families with much less wear and tear on the pocketbook than the government's official samplers of list prices report.

Most housewives shy away from a particular food when its price gets out of line—the government's price samplers don't.

Many shoppers report they can make good deals with merchants for many gadgets where inventories are a little sticky just now. Car dealers, for example, complain that customers are putting on the heat for higher trade-in allowances and for discounts on the prices of accessories and extras.

The government's index, however, reflects the going-price trend, and that trend right now is up. You have to sweeten a dollar with an extra 15 cents now if you expect it to do the job for you in the stores that it did four years ago.

The dollar's purchasing power has been much more stable this year than in 1951 or 1952. It's slipping a little right now. But there's hope its health will improve by the end of the year.

Jamboree Notes

By RICHARD CONSTANT

July 20, 1953

In the morning most of the Rip Van Winkle Scouts went trading. Other than that there were no other activities.

Immediately after lunch there was a jet air show put on for the Jamboree by the Navy air force. The planes were the latest fighters built for combat and the pilots were atll Korean veterans. Some of the planes were Banshees, Panthers, Cougars and a Cutlass. Besides these there were a number of Marine helicopters and two Naval Reserve blimps.

After the air show there was a Hollywood review in which a number of well-known actors and actresses took part. Among these was Jerry Colona, Lash La Rue, the Belle Sisters, Dorothy Lamour and many others. The show was enjoyed by all and they cannot wait to see the ones to come.

Directly following supper the boys went to a sectional campfire. At the fire a number of skits were put on, one by the Chuckling Cockatoo Patrol.

Wounded Koreans Are Moved Farther South

Seoul, July 24 (AP)—The South Korean government today moved 250 South Korean sick and wounded prisoners of war returned from North Korea three months ago from Seoul to "somewhere south."

Vice Minister of Defense Kim Il Whan said these men had recovered from their illness while in an army hospital in Seoul, and that they were moved south for further recuperation. Kim did not name the place.

Kim indicated they might go through another screening to check possible Communist leanings before they are allowed to go home.

Bookies Have Poor Year in Massachusetts

Boston, July 24 (AP)—Massachusetts bookies had a poor year, indeed, based on the taxes they paid the federal government. Internal Revenue Director Thomas Scanlon said last night the 226 dutifully-registered Massachusetts bookies paid only $36,879 in excess taxes in the fiscal year ended last June 30.

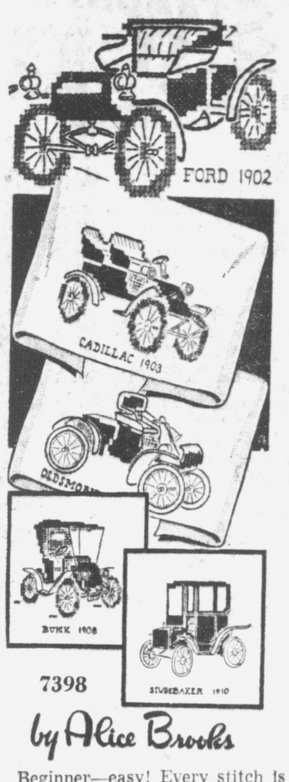

The excise tax is 10 per cent of the gross take. That would put average gross receipts at $1,630 per bookie, as the average tax paid was $163.

Gambling is illegal in Massachusetts, except for horse and dog track pari-mutuel betting.

Charged With Stabbings

Istanbul, Turkey, July 24 (AP)—Police today charged a 17-year-old Turkish boy with the fatal stabbings of his father, stepmother, and five brothers and sisters. The brothers and sisters ranged from 2 to 8 years. The family slaughter occurred at Acipayam, a farming village in southwest Turkey. Police said it started with a quarrel between the youth and his father.

Tuey Is Accepted For Army Course; Enlists Sept. 28

John R. Tuey of 39 Garden street has been accepted to attend the 12-week course in machine accounting at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, Sergeant First Class Clarence Carney of the Poughkeepsie recruiting office said today.

Sgt. Carney pointed out that Tuey will enlist in the army on Sept. 28 for three years and added that he will probably take his basic training at Fort Dix, N. J.

The machine accounting course offered by the army deals with IBM machines, Sgt. Carney said, and offers a great opportunity to young high school graduates.

Interested young men may obtain further details by contacting Sgt. Carney at the Poughkeepsie army recruiting office.

Reis Goes Against Hoosick Falls

Municipal stadium will be blacked out for the first time in three weeks Saturday night, but local interest will be riveted on two major baseball attractions in Kingston and Albany.

While the District 3 Little League sub-section tournament starts at 1:30 p. m. at the 156th FA Little League Stadium, the American Legion Juniors meet Hoosick Falls a half hour later at Hawkins Stadium in Albany.

All Stars teams representing Catskill and Saugerties are scheduled in the LL opener. Ellenville meets Walden in the nightcap.

No game is scheduled Sunday and local teams swing into action on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

William R. Scully and James DeCicco, assisted by William G. Beal of Poughkeepsie, are in charge of the week long eliminations.

Show Batting Punch

Bechtold's strong pitching performance surprised nobody. The young right hander has been moving along brilliantly and his two-hit, 14-strikeout gem indicated he is at the peak of his form.

Coaches Tommy Maines and Eddie Bahl are looking for a strong job from Reis.

If the Juniors get by Hoosick Falls, they are scheduled to return to Albany for a Sunday game. The next stop would be Wednesday at Rochester and with Reis and Houghtaling well rested and Bechtold available for relief, the Old Capitals are confident they can do it.

The starting array against Jeffersonville had an infield array of Bob Fay, Skip Brodhead, Don Ferraro and Paul Giannuzzi. Big Bob Shelightner was behind the plate with Joe Modica, Bill Haber and Bob Maines patrolling the outfield.

Peter Lind Now Rated Hambletonian Threat

Peter Lind, a thoroughly unheralded candidate for the $100,000-plus Hambletonian Stakes at Goshen on Aug. 12, has forced his way up to the rarified heights held by leading favorites.

Owned by E. Roland Harriman, New York city banker, Peter Lind, brown son of Volomite, trounced 12 other Hambletonian candidates, including Elby Hanover and Singing Sword.

Harry Pownall of Goshen, who piloted the Harriman to his fourth, but most impressive win of five starts this year, won the Hambletonian only once before for a Harriman entry, Titan Hanover in 1945.

Legion Baseball Officials at Tournament Opener

This Week's Results

Subway Grill 7, Lincoln Park 2.
Alpine 11, Sicklers 2.
Cherny's 8, Beicherts 6.

A two-out two-run homer by Harry Van Wagenen, infielder for Cherny's, upended Beicherts in a City Softball League game this week.

On the strength of Van Wagenen's timely stroke Cherny's eked out an 8 to 6 victory in the bottom half of the seventh inning.

Beicherts took a 6-4 lead at the end of four rounds but Ed Lowe's stellar relief hurling in the next two and two-thirds innings kept them in check after that. Lowe allowed only one hit and no runs in his relief stint.

Cherny's knotted the score at 6-all with a pair of runs in the sixth and then came Van Wagenen's big blow of the game.

Van Wagenen's homer was one of four hits in the game for the Cherny infielder. He also collected a triple and two singles.

Stalter, McCardle and Osterhoudt also laced out a pair of hits for the winners. Joe Fautz, Woods and Smith each had two for Beicherts.

Alpines Rout Sicklers

A three-inning scoreless duel between Don Koeppen and Tex Brown was broken wide open when the Alpine Climbers rallied for seven runs and the ball game in the fourth inning. They turned back Sicklers to the tune of 11 to 2. Koeppen was touched for single tallies in the fifth and sixth while Alpine came back with a four-run splurge in the sixth.

Bob and Bill Slover paced the winners with three hits apiece while George Magley collected a triple and a single. Ed Trombley also had two hits for the winners. Ken Steltz led the losers with two safeties.

Subway Grill kept its great seasonal spree intact by kayoing Lincoln Park Inn, 7 to 2, for its 14th victory in 15 starts.

The Grillmen pounded out 16 hits off the offerings of Dasher and Hornbeck while Spada limited the losers to six hits.

Vince Peck was the offensive star for the Grillmen with a perfect four for four including a double. B. Schatzel and Spada each collected three hits. McElrath had two of the Lincoln Park six hits.

Monday's Schedule

Sicklers vs. Cherny's, lower Hasbrouck.
Hilltop vs. Subway Grill, Block Park.
Lincoln Park vs. Beicherts, St. Mary's.
Alpine vs. VFW, Athletic Field.

Games Rained Out

Wet grounds yesterday forced postponement of the City Baseball League game between Jones Dairy and Doblers and two Little League contests. Tigers will meet the Indians in the National Little League in the only action today.

All Stars Play Next Game With Boston Hoboes

Having canceled a booking with the Philadelphia Brown Bombers for Saturday night at municipal stadium, the City League All Stars will resume action on a steady basis for the remainder of the season on Friday, July 31, Fred Davi said today.

The crack Boston Hoboes, one of the leading novelty attractions on the road, will make an appearance at the stadium on July 31.

Davi said another major attraction is being sought for Saturday, Aug. 1.

"After that, we expect to play a round robin series with Newburgh and Poughkeepsie," the portly mentor said. "I see where Bill Ryan of Newburgh has challenged Poughkeepsie to a series for the 'Hudson valley title,'" he went on. "I hope they don't overlook the fact that our team was just as impressive against the Jersey City Cardinals as they were."

The local Twi Stars, in their first two games, copped extra inning thrillers from Waterbury and Jersey City.

Mulloy Thinks U.S. Can Regain Cup

Kingston, Jamaica, July 24 (AP)—Brimming confidence, United States Davis Cup captain Gardnar Mulloy today predicted Uncle Sam has a better than even chance to bring the mug home this year.

With his team leading the British West Indies 2-0 and needing only one more victory to clinch the second round North American zone tie, Mulloy took a look almost five months ahead.

"Man for man our team is as good as the Australian's," he said. "Therefore I think we have a better than even chance to win the Cup—provided, of course, we get to the challenge round."

Mulloy won his first singles against the British West Indies No. 1 player, Ian McDonald, 6-1, 6-3, 6-0 yesterday and Bernard Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., took the other singles 6-1, 6-2, 6-2, from Ron Cooper.

The SCOREBOARD

(By The Associated Press)

By BEN PHLEGAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

It takes a brave team to invade Ebbets Field these days so Milwaukee opens a four game series in the home of the Brooklyn Dodgers tonight.

This is another of those "do or die" clashes that keep popping up all season. The Dodgers feel they've got the Braves on the ropes by now with a 5½ game lead and the season moving rapidly toward the two-thirds mark.

A four game Brooklyn sweep would pretty well write an unhappy ending to the first edition of Charlie Grimm's Milwaukee fairy tale.

The Braves, however, may be just the team to cool off the Dodgers who have won 10 of their last 11. Milwaukee is the only club in the league with a season's edge over the Dodgers in Brooklyn, having won three of the five games played there so far.

Both Brooklyn and the Braves were rained out yesterday so they'll go into tonight's game with a welcome day of rest. The Dodgers were supposed to play Chicago and Milwaukee was scheduled at Philadelphia. The rain also cut short the St. Louis Cardinals' series with the New York Giants. Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 7-0 in the only National League game played.

Yanks Fizzle Again

The big noise in the American League was the collapse of the New York Yankees in Cleveland for the third straight game. This time the world champions looked like real country bumpkins as they were swamped 10-2.

The Chicago White Sox muffed their chance to close in on the Yanks when they bowed to Boston, 4-3. The White Sox trail by 4½ games.

Detroit Tigers, taking a pair from Washington 9-6 in 10 innings and 5-4, moved the Tigers within half a game of the seventh place St. Louis Browns who lost to Philadelphia 7-4 in 14 innings.

The Yankees tried a couple of their young pitchers against Cleveland and the Indians battered them for 14 hits and 10 runs in the first six innings. Tom Gorman made his first start and lasted into the fifth inning. Art Schallock toiled two and gave up five runs, four of them unearned because of an error by First Baseman Don Bollweg.

Home runs figured strongly in the Cleveland victory. George Strickland hit one with two on and Al Rosen with the bases empty in the fifth. Luke Easter opened the scoring with one in the second. Early Wynn, who posted his tenth victory, also got in on the batting practice with a double and a pair of singles which drove in two runs.

Browns Stop Chisox

At Chicago Hector (Skinny) Brown came back to haunt his old White Sox team mates with a four hitter for his seventh straight victory. He gave up two runs without a hit in the second inning when he walked three men. One run scored on an outfield fly and another on a wild pitch. Brown pitched hitless ball from the fourth until Jim Rivera hit a home run in the ninth.

Ray Boone, who says he likes it better with last place Detroit than he did with first division Cleveland, hit a three run homer in the 10th inning for the Tigers' first game victory over Washington. Home runs by Jim Delsing and Bob Nieman, and a timely two-gun single by Gerry Priddy helped Ted Gray with his fifth game in the nightcap.

The Athletics solved Satch Paige's relief efforts for four hits and three runs in the 14th to win their marathon at St. Louis. Eddie Robinson brought home two of the tallies with a triple.

Harry Perkowski, who has been improving steadily after a bad start, won his eighth game for Cincinnati as he scattered eight hits for the shutout. The loss was the 13th for little Murry Dickson.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Pitching — Hector (Skinny) Brown of the Red Sox won his seventh straight and his 10th of the season with a four-hitter against Chicago 4-3.

Batting — Luke Easter, Cleveland Indians, hit a 450-foot home run and a single, driving in two runs, in the Indians' 10-2 rout of the New York Yankees.

Hartford, Conn.—Georgie Dunn-Harold "Baby Face" Jones bout postponed to Tuesday, rain.

Novel Stock Race Set at Rhinebeck

Rhinebeck Speedway will set another stock car "first" Saturday night as it schedules another adaptation of the "Chicago Back Up Race."

The destruction roundup will start when 10 jalopies will be started from a standstill in a race that will be run halfway forward, with the second half in reverse gear.

The fun begins when the traffic gets thickest after the halfway mark and cars going in two directions meet headon.

Bob Devine of Washington, Conn. heads a crack field for the regular sprint series.

Reis Goes Against Hoosick Falls

Municipal stadium will be blacked out for the first time in three weeks Saturday night, but local interest will be riveted on two major baseball attractions in Kingston and Albany.

While the District 3 Little League sub-section tournament starts at 1:30 p. m. at the 156th FA Little League Stadium, the American Legion Juniors meet Hoosick Falls a half hour later at Hawkins Stadium in Albany.

All Stars teams representing Catskill and Saugerties are scheduled in the LL opener. Ellenville meets Walden in the nightcap.

No game is scheduled Sunday and local teams swing into action on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

William R. Scully and James DeCicco, assisted by William G. Beal of Poughkeepsie, are in charge of the week long eliminations.

Show Batting Punch

The Juniors revealed surprising batting power against Jefferson, clubbing three hurlers for 11 hits, including a pair of doubles and two triples.

Bechtold's strong pitching performance surprised nobody. The young right hander has been moving along brilliantly and his two-hit, 14-strikeout gem indicated he is at the peak of his form.

Coaches Tommy Maines and Eddie Bahl are looking for a strong job from Reis.

If the Juniors get by Hoosick Falls, they are scheduled to return to Albany for a Sunday game. The next stop would be Wednesday at Rochester and with Reis and Houghtaling well rested and Bechtold available for relief, the Old Capitals are confident they can do it.

The starting array against Jeffersonville had an infield array of Bob Fay, Skip Brodhead, Don Ferraro and Paul Giannuzzi. Big Bob Shelightner was behind the plate with Joe Modica, Bill Haber and Bob Maines patrolling the outfield.

Peter Lind Now Rated Hambletonian Threat

Peter Lind, a thoroughly unheralded candidate for the $100,000-plus Hambletonian Stakes at Goshen on Aug. 12, has forced his way up to the rarified heights held by leading favorites.

He dislodged Newport Star in the process by beating him in the latest Hambletonian dress rehearsal at Saratoga.

Owned by E. Roland Harriman, New York city banker, Peter Lind, brown son of Volomite, trounced 12 other Hambletonian candidates, including Elby Hanover and Singing Sword.

Harry Pownall of Goshen, who piloted the Harriman to his fourth, but most impressive win of five starts this year, won the Hambletonian only once before for a Harriman entry, Titan Hanover in 1945.

Legion Baseball Officials at Tournament Opener

Subway Grill 7, Lincoln Park 2.
Alpine 11, Sicklers 2.
Cherny's 8, Beicherts 6.

A two-out two-run homer by Harry Van Wagenen, infielder for Cherny's, upended Beicherts in a City Softball League game this week.

On the strength of Van Wagenen's timely stroke Cherny's eked out an 8 to 6 victory in the bottom half of the seventh inning.

Beicherts took a 6-4 lead at the end of four rounds but Ed Lowe's stellar relief hurling in the next two and two-thirds innings kept them in check after that. Lowe allowed only one hit and no runs in his relief stint.

Cherrys knotted the score at 6-all with a pair of runs in the sixth and then came Van Wagenen's big blow of the game.

Van Wagenen's homer was one of four hits in the game for the Cherny infielder. He also collected a triple and two singles.

Stalter, McCardle and Osterhoudt also laced out a pair of hits for the winners. Joe Fautz, Woods and Smith each had two for Beicherts.

Alpines Rout Sicklers

A three-inning scoreless duel between Don Koeppen and Tex Brown was broken wide open when the Alpine Climbers rallied for seven runs and the ball game in the fourth inning. They turned back Sicklers to the tune of 11 to 2. Koeppen was touched for single tallies in the fifth and sixth while Alpine came back with a four-run splurge in the sixth.

Bob and Bill Slover paced the winners with three hits apiece while George Magley collected a triple and a single. Ed Trombley also had two hits for the winners. Ken Steltz led the losers with two safeties.

Subway Grill kept its great seasonal spree intact by kayoing Lincoln Park Inn, 7 to 2, for its 14th victory in 15 starts.

The Grillmen pounded out 16 hits off the offerings of Dasher and Hornbeck while Spada limited the losers to six hits.

Vince Peck was the offensive star for the Grillmen with a perfect four for four including a double. B. Schatzel and Spada each collected three hits. McElrath had two of the Lincoln Park six hits.

Alpine vs. VFW, Athletic Field.

Games Rained Out

Wet grounds yesterday forced postponement of the City Baseball League game between Jones Dairy and Doblers and two Little League contests. Tigers will meet the Indians in the National Little League in the only action today.

All Stars Play Next Game With Boston Hoboes

Having canceled a booking with the Philadelphia Brown Bombers for Saturday night at municipal stadium, the City League All Stars will resume action on a steady basis for the remainder of the season on Friday, July 31, Fred Davi said today.

The crack Boston Hoboes, one of the leading novelty attractions on the road, will make an appearance at the stadium on July 31.

Davi said another major attraction is being sought for Saturday, Aug. 1.

"After that, we expect to play a round robin series with Newburgh and Poughkeepsie," the portly mentor said. "I see where Bill Ryan of Newburgh has challenged Poughkeepsie to a series for the 'Hudson valley title,'" he went on. "I hope they don't overlook the fact that our team was just as impressive against the Jersey City Cardinals as they were."

The local Twi Stars, in their first two games, copped extra inning thrillers from Waterbury and Jersey City.

The SCOREBOARD

(By The Associated Press)

By BEN PHLEGAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

It takes a brave team to invade Ebbets Field these days so Milwaukee opens a four game series in the home of the Brooklyn Dodgers tonight.

This is another of those "do or die" clashes that keep popping up all season. The Dodgers feel they've got the Braves on the ropes by now with a 5½ game lead and the season moving rapidly toward the two-thirds mark.

A four game Brooklyn sweep would pretty well write an unhappy ending to the first edition of Charlie Grimm's Milwaukee fairy tale.

The Braves, however, may be just the team to cool off the Dodgers who have won 10 of their last 11. Milwaukee is the only club in the league with a season's edge over the Dodgers in Brooklyn, having won three of the five games played there so far.

Both Brooklyn and the Braves were rained out yesterday so they'll go into tonight's game with a welcome day of rest. The Dodgers were supposed to play Chicago and Milwaukee was scheduled at Philadelphia. The rain also cut short the St. Louis Cardinals' series with the New York Giants. Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 7-0 in the only National League game played.

Yanks Fizzle Again

The big noise in the American League was the collapse of the New York Yankees in Cleveland for the third straight game. This time the world champions looked like real country bumpkins as they were swamped 10-2.

The Chicago White Sox muffed their chance to close in on the Yanks when they bowed to Boston, 4-3. The White Sox trail by 4½ games.

Detroit Tigers, taking a pair from Washington 9-6 in 10 innings and 5-4, moved the Tigers within half a game of the seventh place St. Louis Browns who lost to Philadelphia 7-4 in 14 innings.

The Yankees tried a couple of their young pitchers against Cleveland and the Indians battered them for 14 hits and 10 runs in the first six innings. Tom Gorman made his first start and lasted into the fifth inning. Art Schallock toiled two and gave up five runs, four of them unearned because of an error by First Baseman Don Bollweg.

Home runs figured strongly in the Cleveland victory. George Strickland hit one with two on and Al Rosen with the bases empty in the fifth. Luke Easter opened the scoring with one in the second. Early Wynn, who posted his tenth victory, also got in on the batting practice with a double and a pair of singles which drove in two runs.

Browns Stop Chisox

At Chicago Hector (Skinny) Brown came back to haunt his old White Sox team mates with a four hitter for his seventh straight victory. He gave up two runs without a hit in the second inning when he walked three men. One run scored on an outfield fly and another on a wild pitch. Brown pitched hitless ball from the fourth until Jim Rivera hit a home run in the ninth.

Ray Boone, who says he likes it better with last place Detroit than he did with first division Cleveland, hit a three run homer in the 10th inning for the Tigers' first game victory over Washington. Home runs by Jim Delsing and Bob Nieman, and a timely two-gun single by Gerry Priddy helped Ted Gray with his fifth game in the nightcap.

The Athletics solved Satch Paige's relief efforts for four hits and three runs in the 14th to win their marathon at St. Louis. Eddie Robinson brought home two of the tallies with a triple.

Harry Perkowski, who has been improving steadily after a bad start, won his eighth game for Cincinnati as he scattered eight hits for the shutout. The loss was the 13th for little Murry Dickson.

Novel Stock Race Set at Rhinebeck

Rhinebeck Speedway will set another stock car "first" Saturday night as it schedules another adaptation of the "Chicago Back Up Race."

The destruction roundup will start when 10 jalopies will be started from a standstill in a race that will be run halfway forward, with the second half in reverse gear.

The fun begins when the traffic gets thickest after the halfway mark and cars going in two directions meet headon.

Bob Devine of Washington, Conn. heads a crack field for the regular sprint series.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching — Hector (Skinny) Brown of the Red Sox won his seventh straight and his 10th of the season with a four-hitter against Chicago 4-3.

Batting — Luke Easter, Cleveland Indians, hit a 450-foot home run and a single, driving in two runs, in the Indians' 10-2 rout of the New York Yankees.

Ray Reilly also spanked two singles, batted in four runs and scored three to give a neat account of himself.

Leo Baxter held the Blue Jays to four runs and seven hits in six innings. Roy Havens hurled the seventh and struck out the side.

Jones Says Hogan Is Playing Finest Golf in History

New York, July 24 (AP)—Atlanta's immortal grand slammer didn't flinch when he came face-to-face with golf's most discussed issue—who was better, Ben Hogan or Bobby Jones?

"People are running faster, jumping higher and jumping farther than ever before," Jones told a dinner group honoring Hogan last night. "It is only natural they should play golf better, too.

"Ben has proved they can."

It wasn't exactly a concession, as some so interpreted. It was a gracious and modest statement by a man who recognizes changing times and improving techniques.

Pressed further on the subject privately, Jones, who retired at 28 with 13 U. S. and British national championships, said:

"When I was 28 (that was the year of his grand slam) I thought I could hold my own with anyone over 72 holes. But I'm sure glad I didn't have to play that fellow (Hogan).

"But in 1975 there will come another and people will be saying he could beat Hogan or Jones or anybody. That's the way it goes."

Jones headed a star-spangled cast of former golf champions who paid tribute to Hogan at a dinner staged by the U. S. Golf Association.

Fourth Bill Sent

Washington, July 24 (AP)—The fourth of the dozen regular money bills which provide funds to run the government in the year which started July 1 was sent to the White House by Congress today. Senate approval, by voice vote, cleared a $718,395,398 bill for the Agriculture Department. The amount is $14,420,000 more than President Eisenhower asked, but $31,457,000 less than Ex-President Truman recommended.

Kevin (Chuck) Connors, former major league baseball player and now making a career in films, also played professional basketball.

Marine Mania

By AL McCLANE
(Fishing Editor)

Harry Akers is a commercial skin diver. He works as a carpenter by day, but nights after work, Harry takes his aqua-lung, swim fins, and spear gun and heads for the bottom of the ocean to kill 300 pounds of whatever he happens to find. At market prices this means Harry makes 20 to 25 dollars per night.

The spear fishing mania is reaching a new peak in this country. Harry, for example, likes to work at 600 feet, but he will go down over 200 if he's looking for a particular kind of fish.

Last winter he found a bed of snook on a reef about seven miles off Marathon, Fla., and being the scarcest market item at the time, all he needed was eight trips down to make a fast buck. The ninth time down, he banked in under a cave and found a grouper of about 250 pounds. Two fine steel cables connect gun to spear, so our hero hung on while the grouper dragged him about a hundred yards up a coral cave.

Before long the grouper was bleeding and a big tiger shark began snooping around the cave mouth. Harry dropped his weapon and let the fish go to the end of the cave. Naturally, the shark figured he could get into the cave, too, and before you could uncork a jug, there was 10 feet of rough-skinned stupidity snuggling against Harry's feet.

He did the only thing a man could do—kicked the shark in the nose.

Then the grouper decided he wanted to come out of the hole. By coming back, the grouper brought Harry's gun along, which he promptly snatched when the two of them had backed into a wider part of the tunnel.

"I really gave that shark a sore nose then," continued Harry. "He lit outta there like a big-winged bird!"

That, kiddies, is one reason why this department is having so much trouble in reporting on the activities of spear fishermen. We are polishing up our dog paddle and spending long minutes under a cold shower during the next few days.

How to Play Par Golf

Use Square Stance for Putting

By JULIUS BOROS
(1952 U. S. Open Champion)

BACKSWING — Julius Boros' backswing for an eight-foot putt. (NEA)

Several different types of putting stance may be used with equal success.

I prefer a square stance, playing the ball two or three inches from the left toe.

Flex the knees slightly. Be as comfortable as possible. The shoulders and hips are parallel to the line of the putt. Keep the clubhead close to the ground, square to the hole.

There is no body action.

I take the club back with my left hand and arm, hit it with my right hand.

The weight normally should be equally distributed. If you vary, the weight should be directed more to the left foot to prevent hitting behind the ball and stubbing the shot.

The head should be directly over the ball in order to obtain a true line for the ball to follow. The head should not move until the follow through is well on the way. You are bent considerably at the waist.

The blade of the putter should be placed squarely on the green, not tilted backward on the heel or forward on the toe. The blade is square to the hole. You can hook a shot on the green almost as easily as you can off the tee or fairway.

The arms should be in close to the body, slightly bent at the elbows. Don't make the mistake of pulling the elbows in rigidly to the body. Have them in a natural, comfortable position.

The elbows will automatically fall into the proper place.

The bend of the arms and knees depend on the individual.

Jones Says Hogan Is Playing Finest Golf in History

New York, July 24 (AP)—Atlanta's immortal grand slammer didn't flinch when he came face-to-face with golf's most discussed issue—who was better, Ben Hogan or Bobby Jones?

"People are running faster, jumping higher and jumping farther than ever before," Jones told a dinner group honoring Hogan last night. "It is only natural they should play golf better, too.

"Ben has proved they can."

It wasn't exactly a concession, as some so interpreted. It was a gracious and modest statement by a man who recognizes changing times and improving techniques.

Pressed further on the subject privately, Jones, who retired at 28 with 13 U. S. and British national championships, said:

"When I was 28 (that was the year of his grand slam) I thought I could hold my own with anyone over 72 holes. But I'm sure glad I didn't have to play that fellow (Hogan).

"But in 1975 there will come another and people will be saying he could beat Hogan or Jones or anybody. That's the way it goes."

Fourth Bill Sent

Washington, July 24 (AP)—The fourth of the dozen regular money bills which provide funds to run the government in the year which started July 1 was sent to the White House by Congress today. Senate approval, by voice vote, cleared a $718,395,398 bill for the Agriculture Department. The amount is $14,420,000 more than President Eisenhower asked, but $31,457,000 less than Ex-President Truman recommended.

Kevin (Chuck) Connors, former major league baseball player and now making a career in films, also played professional basketball.

Marine Mania

By AL McCLANE
(Fishing Editor)

Harry Akers is a commercial skin diver. He works as a carpenter by day, but nights after work, Harry takes his aqua-lung, swim fins, and spear gun and heads for the bottom of the ocean to kill 300 pounds of whatever he happens to find. At market prices this means Harry makes 20 to 25 dollars per night.

The spear fishing mania is reaching a new peak in this country. Harry, for example, likes to work at 600 feet, but he will go down over 200 if he's looking for a particular kind of fish.

Last winter he found a bed of snook on a reef about seven miles off Marathon, Fla., and being the scarcest market item at the time, all he needed was eight trips down to make a fast buck. The ninth time down, he banked in under a cave and found a grouper of about 250 pounds. Two fine steel cables connect gun to spear, so our hero hung on while the grouper dragged him about a hundred yards up a coral cave.

Before long the grouper was bleeding and a big tiger shark began snooping around the cave mouth. Harry dropped his weapon and let the fish go to the end of the cave. Naturally, the shark figured he could get into the cave, too, and before you could uncork a jug, there was 10 feet of rough-skinned stupidity snuggling against Harry's feet.

He did the only thing a man could do—kicked the shark in the nose.

Then the grouper decided he wanted to come out of the hole. By coming back, the grouper brought Harry's gun along, which he promptly snatched when the two of them had backed into a wider part of the tunnel.

"I really gave that shark a sore nose then," continued Harry. "He lit outta there like a big-winged bird!"

That, kiddies, is one reason why this department is having so much trouble in reporting on the activities of spear fishermen. We are polishing up our dog paddle and spending long minutes under a cold shower during the next few days.

How to Play Par Golf

Use Square Stance for Putting

By JULIUS BOROS
(1952 U. S. Open Champion)

Several different types of putting stance may be used with equal success.

I prefer a square stance, playing the ball two or three inches from the left toe.

Flex the knees slightly. Be as comfortable as possible. The shoulders and hips are parallel to the line of the putt. Keep the clubhead close to the ground, square to the hole.

There is no body action.

I take the club back with my left hand and arm, hit it with my right hand.

The weight normally should be equally distributed. If you vary, the weight should be directed more to the left foot to prevent hitting behind the ball and stubbing the shot.

The head should be directly over the ball in order to obtain a true line for the ball to follow. The head should not move until the follow through is well on the way. You are bent considerably at the waist.

The blade of the putter should be placed squarely on the green, not tilted backward on the heel or forward on the toe. The blade is square to the hole. You can hook a shot on the green almost as easily as you can off the tee or fairway.

The arms should be in close to the body, slightly bent at the elbows. Don't make the mistake of pulling the elbows in rigidly to the body. Have them in a natural, comfortable position.

BACKSWING — Julius Boros' backswing for an eight-foot putt. (NEA)

The elbows will automatically fall into the proper place.

munjom directly states that this will not be done . . . this cannot be allowed to happen."

Rhee said that during his conferences with Robertson "I asked him, as a major basis for my reluctant agreement to postpone our plans for dealing with the enemy aggressors, to give me assurances that the United States would either jointly resume the fighting with us (if the political conference failed) or if this cannot be done, that it would back our efforts with moral and material support in addition to the proposed economic aid."

"I am sure he is doing all he can," Rhee said, "but while a truce seems imminent, I have had no word on this crucial matter."

Flies to U. S. Corps

Rhee flew to U. S. 1st Corps headquarters later in the day to present the corps with the ROK Presidential Unit citation.

Last month Rhee threatened to wreck an armistice when he ordered the release of about 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean war prisoners. And earlier this week he warned that South Korea will flow its own course of action unless the Chinese Reds agree within six months after an armistice is signed to evacuate North Korea.

Friday Rhee said he is "still waiting hopefully for word" from Washington that the agreement he reached with Robertson in Seoul last month has "not been sacrificed to the demands of the Communists enemy."

"I must reiterate once again," Rhee said, "that we are struggling for survival as an independent, democratic nation. Anything which undermines this purpose is not for us a compromise but a tragic and final defeat."

Meets With Briggs

Shortly before issuing his bitter statement Rhee met for the third time in three days with U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs. ROK Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai said the session was "very brief and not important. We only confirmed the cables which were exchanged, some of which have been reported."

Allied and Red liaison officers met in a quickly called conference. These officers have the job, among other things, of setting the meeting time for the full truce teams.

The liaison chiefs, with Marine Col. James C. Murray leading the allied side, might have checked work performed by staff officers. The liaison men serve as direct representatives of the top delegates.

This conference opened an hour after a two-hour special staff officers meeting led by Col. L. C. Friedersdorff of Houston, Tex.

This group is understood to be mapping plans for exchanging nearly 100,000 war prisoners. The truce document says this must be done within 60 days of the armistice signing, so the operation must get underway quickly after the ceremonies.

The special staff body met with the Reds for the first time Thursday, and no time was set for another session at Friday's recess.

Col. Friedersdorff walked in the Panmunjom truce hut with Col. Murray joined the liaison officers' talks, suggesting the liaison group might be going over prisoner exchange plans.

This seemed the last major business still to be wrapped up before the truce signing date is fixed.

East Germans . . .

basic foods, they bragged "we don't need American alms."

New Curbs Expected

It looked increasingly as if Communist police were getting ready to slam down new border curbs to keep the gift food away from their people. This fear was evident in Conant's reply last night to a protest by Soviet High Commissioner Vladimir Semyenov against the relief program. Conant denied Semyenov's charge that the food gifts were intended to incite "Fascist hirelings and criminal elements" to stage another revolt like that of June 17.

Conant carefully avoided propagandizing the food shortage and stressed "the important thing is that the people in the east zone who need the food actually receive it." There was no official reply to Conant, but the subsequent propaganda barrage in the Communist press showed clearly his appeal would be scorned.

Red Doves of Peace Placed Over Entrance

Panmunjom, July 24 (AP)—Communist workmen today placed three replicas of the Picasso "Dove of Peace" above the main entrances to armistice hall—the new building the Reds constructed this week for the signing of the Korean truce.

The dove, designed by the leftist French artist, has become a Communist propaganda symbol throughout the world.

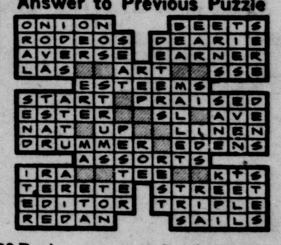

Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters in Tokyo said the first officers there knew of them was from a news dispatch filed here. It was assumed the allies would protest.

As Pegler Sees It

prove up on the admission of its publisher, Arthur Hays Sulzberger, that he was now going in for interpretation in his new stories.

Now the Times is strong for John McCloy who is currently being talked up to succeed John Dulles as secretary of state. When he was our hicogalorum in Germany, McCloy had for his first assistant, after Benjamin Buttenwieser left for home, a Times man on leave named Shepard Stone, who had strong influence in laying down foreign policy in Germany. If McCloy goes into state, succeeding Dulles, he probably will take the Times man along again as No. 2, lifting him out of the Ford Foundation where he is now rusticating.

For a long time, McCloy retained Buttenwieser against clamor arising from discovery of the facts that he had given Alger Hiss houseroom in his home after his conviction, and that his wife, a niece of Senator Herbert H. Lehman, was one of Hiss's lawyers.

Is this a Republican administration?

Workman Is Drowned

New York, July 24 (AP)—A 30-year-old workman drowned in 15 inches of water yesterday on the flooded rooftop of a five-story midtown building. The victim was Daniel Sanzone, whose body was found face down in the water, his left arm caught in a drainpipe. The rooftop was one of many flooded by torrential rains.

munjom directly states that this will not be done . . . this cannot be allowed to happen."

Rhee said that during his conferences with Robertson "I asked him, as a major basis for my reluctant agreement to postpone our plans for dealing with the enemy aggressors, to give me assurances that the United States would either jointly resume the fighting with us (if the political conference failed) or if this cannot be done, that it would back our efforts with moral and material support in addition to the proposed economic aid."

"I am sure he is doing all he can," Rhee said, "but while a truce seems imminent, I have had no word on this crucial matter."

Flies to U. S. Corps

Rhee flew to U. S. 1st Corps headquarters later in the day to present the corps with the ROK Presidential Unit citation.

Last month Rhee threatened to wreck an armistice when he ordered the release of about 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean war prisoners. And earlier this week he warned that South Korea will flow its own course of action unless the Chinese Reds agree within six months after an armistice is signed to evacuate North Korea.

Friday Rhee said he is "still waiting hopefully for word" from Washington that the agreement he reached with Robertson in Seoul last month has "not been sacrificed to the demands of the Communists enemy."

"I must reiterate once again," Rhee said, "that we are struggling for survival as an independent, democratic nation. Anything which undermines this purpose is not for us a compromise but a tragic and final defeat."

Meets With Briggs

Shortly before issuing his bitter statement Rhee met for the third time in three days with U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs. ROK Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai said the session was "very brief and not important. We only confirmed the cables which were exchanged, some of which have been reported."

Allied and Red liaison officers met in a quickly called conference. These officers have the job, among other things, of setting the meeting time for the full truce teams.

The liaison chiefs, with Marine Col. James C. Murray leading the allied side, might have checked work performed by staff officers. The liaison men serve as direct representatives of the top delegates.

This conference opened an hour after a two-hour special staff officers meeting led by Col. L. C. Friedersdorff of Houston, Tex.

This group is understood to be mapping plans for exchanging nearly 100,000 war prisoners. The truce document says this must be done within 60 days of the armistice signing, so the operation must get underway quickly after the ceremonies.

The special staff body met with the Reds for the first time Thursday, and no time was set for another session at Friday's recess.

Col. Friedersdorff walked in the Panmunjom truce hut with Col. Murray joined the liaison officers' talks, suggesting the liaison group might be going over prisoner exchange plans.

Refinishing Hand Pumper for Exhibition

This old hand pumper, about 100 years old, is being refinished at Cornell fire station for Town of Rochester celebration by Bobby Maines and Joe Miles of the paid fire department under direction of Capt. Edward H. (Yank) Albrecht and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy. (Freeman Photo)

Century-Old Fire Apparatus Will Be Feature of Parade

An old mahogany fire engine approximately 100 years old, rendered spotless and shining by members of Cornell Fire Station under the supervision of Capt. Edward H. Albrecht, will participate in the Saturday morning parade in Accord celebrating the 250th anniversary of the Town of Rochester.

The old hand pumper, nifty in its new paint, will be taken to Accord this afternoon by truck.

Firemen at Cornell Station were busy for a considerable part of the week putting the pumper, acquired in the year 1857, into shape for its first public appearance in many years. Chief Joseph L. Murphy figures it's been about 15 years since the old wooden-wheeled engine, which featured in many a fire in old Kingston of the 19th century, appeared in a parade. As he recalls, it was a fire prevention parade back in 1937.

Is Handled Carefully

Chief Murphy explained this morning that every precaution was being taken so the engine would not be damaged, pointing out that its age made such care essential.

Formerly drawn by hand, later by a pair of horses, the engine was getting its finishing touches yesterday afternoon, the brass hubs being buffed with steel brushes, the copper dome housing the pump beginning to take on a high polish.

The engine, acquired back in the 50s of the last century by the old American Engine Company, has been located for approximately a quarter of a century at Cornell Station, according to Capt. Albrecht who has been at that station for 39 years himself.

The engine formerly bore on its motto plate the words "We work to conquer."

Two Coats of Paint

The wheels of the engine have been painted yellow with small designs in black on the wooden spokes and the body has been painted red and black. "It's in A-1 condition," Albrecht told a reporter from The Freeman. It was scraped down to the natural grain and two coats of paint were applied.

Originally the pumper was drawn by volunteers who took hold of a long loop of rope attached to the front of the vehicle. There was, also, a small loop of rope secured at the rear of the engine manned by two or three men in order to slow or stop the vehicle if necessary.

On each side of the pumper is a long hand rail, each of which was manned at the fire. By raising and lowering each rail alternately power was supplied to pump the water from the cistern and throw it on the fire.

Killer of Three Sought in Quebec

Attorney-General Declares Pennsylvanians' Deaths Was Cold Murder

Gaspe, Que., July 24 (AP)—Quebec police today sought the human killer of three Pennsylvania hunters whose fleshless, bear-gnawed bones have been found deep in the rugged, mountainous Gaspe Peninsula after a three-week search.

"Murder, cold-blooded and planned" was the report last night of the Quebec Attorney-General's Department after discovery of the chewed remains of the last two victims. Robbery was believed the motive, since no trace was found of $700 in cash, two expensive rifles, binoculars and most of the equipment they were known to have carried.

Police hinted an arrest was imminent but were mum on suspects. Woodsmen went back into the bush today seeking more clues.

The men, all from Hollidaysburg, Pa., went into the remote area, 65 miles from here, without local guides on June 12 to shoot bears. They were Eugene H. Lindsey, 45, whose skeletal, skull-less remains were found last week; his son Richard, 17, and Fred Claar, 20.

The youths' bones were discovered yesterday at an abandoned logging camp four miles from another camp which had yielded the remains of the elder Lindsey. Both sites were criss-crossed by bear tracks. The bush country lies along an upper branch of the St. Jean river, far from the picturesque coastal road familiar to many American tourists.

Only one skull was found. A medical expert said he believed bears could have eaten the two missing heads.

The hunters left their Pennsylvania home June 5, to be gone two weeks. Police began a wide search when relatives had no word from them three weeks later.
